HOLDS ARMOUR GRAIN CO. FOR CO-OP FAILURE

Refund $3,000,000, Arbitrator Demands.

(Picture on back page.)

Instead of ending in failure, the Armour Grain company, a $20,000,000 cooperative trading mart which had been hailed as the salvation of the farmer, would have reaped a profit had it not been for the acts of the Armour Grain company, declares Edward S. Brown, arbitrator of the Armour-Rosenbaum dispute, in his report, made public yesterday.

The Grain Marketing company, supported by many farm leaders, launched a new stabilizing plan of the type which President Coolidge holds to be the proper solution of the farm problem.

It would have netted $300,000 profit in less than a year, instead of being involved as it was with debts of $2,000,000, according to Mr. Brown's findings.

See Damages at $3,000,000.

In ordering the Armour Grain company to pay damages of approximately $3,000,000 to the Grain Marketing company, Mr. Brown, who is vice president of the First National bank, stated that he found the Armour company fully responsible for the $2,400,000 loss of the cooperative company. He required the Armour Grain company to pay that entire loss, and the estimate of $300,000 profit as well, and then added interest and other charges to bring the whole amount close to $3,000,000.

The financial brain of the decision falls on J. Ogden Armour, Philip D. Armour III, and Lester Armour, who own and control 95 per cent of the stock in the Armour Grain company. None of them is connected with personal conduct in the transaction.

Testimony at the hearings proves, according to Arbitrator Brown's formal decision, that during the night hours in the week just before the Armour Grain company changed grain sales from cash to credit.

Arbitrator Brown's decision makes them of much higher grade. The company's books were tampered with, made to show presence of abundant grain where there was but a few bushels and old wheat. Mr. Brown found. Then it was sold to the new Armour company as the choicest of wheat.

Demands Inquiry by Senate.

Demands that the agricultural committee of the United States senate investigate the charges were made yesterday by Senator George W. Norris (Rep., Neb.), chairman of the committee, by Staff M. Manly, director of the Senate Legislative association.

Mr. Manly charged that "the most serious fraud in history of American business was revealed."

Senator Norris was asked to subpoena officials of the Armour Grain company before his committee and lay bare all the details.

Feeling Comes as Shock.

As to what action here may follow the arbitrator's findings, the news of it had proved too much of a bombshell to permit any to be taken or even suggested. Some members of the board of trade felt the government might make an inquiry, citing the resolution of Senator Wheeler of Montana, which sought an investigation of the failure of the Grain Marketing company. The directors of the board of trade refused to make any forecast of their action.

The arbitrator's decision was taken as a victory for the officers of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, which, with the Armour company, had pooled their elevator interests in forming the Grain Marketing company.

The $1,000,000 award by Mr. Brown's decision will be divided, after payment of the Grain Marketing company's indebtedness, according to the holdings of the various companies in the matter.

Probable Payment $1,000,000.

The Armour Grain company itself held 45 per cent; the Rosenbaum Grain corporation had 45 per cent, and Rosenbaum Brothers the remaining 10 per cent. The arbitrator's award directed that $1,000,000 be paid by the Armour Grain company by May 10, 1927. Mr. Brown stated he believed that sum would be sufficient to pay the damages other than those to which the Armour company would receive back as its 45 per cent.

The principal witness on the charges of switching grain and altering records was Frank D. Crombie, 6859 Perry avenue, who was superintendent of the Northwestern elevator at the time concerned.

Crombie testified that at the direction of George E. Thompson, general superintendent of the Armour Grain company, he had switched grain from the Northwestern elevator at the time concerned.

MYSTERY FOGS REASON BEHIND SUDDEN EXIT

Report His Recall Was Demanded.

BULLETIN.

(Copyright, 1927, By The New York Times.)

MEXICO CITY, March 3.—The note which was delivered to the Mexican foreign office by the American embassy demanded the recall of the Mexican minister at Washington (Telles) on grounds that he is persona non grata, according to confidential information here. It is said Telles has been recalled and will arrive here in a few days. Telles is accused of propaganda against Coolidge policies.

It is believed here this will mean that the Mexican government will demand the recall of American Ambassador Sheffield, thus breaking relations between both countries officially. Great secrecy is maintained at the American embassy and Mexican foreign office.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—[Special.]—Sefior Manuel C. Telles, Mexican ambassador to the United States, left hastily for Mexico City tonight under circumstances which indicated that he has been recalled by the Mexican government.

Mexican officials, while confirming the fact that he has left for Mexico City, refused to comment on whether he would return. Officially it was stated that he was returning because of the illness of his brother, but reliable information here indicates this is not the principal reason for his departure from the United States.

Another Man Preferred.

Information given out here, which is considered reliable, indicates that the Mexican ambassador has been recalled by his own government because President Calles of Mexico believes that another man may be able to bring about better relations between the two governments.

State department officials refused tonight to dignify with an official denial the reports that this government had asked for the recall of the Mexican envoy or that they had told the Mexican government that he was persona non grata in their recent secret note to President Calles. It was stated, however, that this government had not asked for the recall of Telles and that he has not been pronounced persona non grata.

Circulated Propaganda.

Reports have persisted that the Mexican envoy has incurred the displeasure of this government because of the propaganda which he has released here in an effort to win the support of the American public for the controversial Mexican oil laws which went into effect last January.

Some of the statements the ambassador has made regarding the number of oil companies who have obeyed the new oil law have been denied indirectly in official statements.

Propriety of His Actions.

There have been intimations that the activities of the ambassador have been carried to the point where serious question has been raised as to the propriety of his actions. Whether his activities were mentioned in the recent note to Mexico is not confirmed or denied here.

When Ambassador Telles was sent to the United States on Feb. 24, 1925, the controversy over the application of the new Mexican oil and land laws was one of the big problems confronting the officials of the United States and Mexico. One of the Mexican ambassador's missions was the settlement of this question.

No Indication of Success.

Official dissatisfaction of the Mexican government with the results obtained by his actions here is believed to have resulted in the decision to recall him. No indication was given out here as to who would be his successor.

Ambassador Telles left Washington for Mexico City last Friday on the same day that a new note from the American government reached James R. Sheffield, the American ambassador at Mexico City. Mr. Sheffield delivered the note at once. Shortly after that Ambassador Telles received a message from Mexico City at St. Louis. Immediately afterward he left for Washington. At the Mexican embassy it was stated that the envoy had left to see a sick brother and had decided to return on the receipt of advice that his brother was better.

Senor Telles arrived in Washington

End 37-Hour Senate Filibuster

THE DIFFERENT SPECIES IN THE BOLSHEVIK ZOO

ing to a vote, the Democrats staged a filibuster to prevent a vote on the deficiency appropriation bill with a view to bringing the Republicans to terms and forcing a showdown on the slush fund investigation.

Senator Lenroot [Rep., Wis.] charged that the filibuster had crossed the side and accused the Democrats of blocking legislation.

Dawes Absolves Democrats.

To absolve the Democrats of blame for blocking the deficiency bill on which the Republicans were demanding a vote, Reed of Missouri made the point of order that this measure could not be considered on the same legislative day it was reported to the senate and Vice President Dawes sustained him.

The Republicans then demanded that the public buildings bill be taken up, but the Democrats held that motion, 30 to 47, and immediately thereafter, by agreement of the leaders on both sides, the senate went into executive session.

Dave Reed Sticks to Guns.

All through the day and into the night Reed of Pennsylvania had doggedly refused consent to any agreement for passage of pending bills that included a provision for vote on the slush fund resolution. He knew it would be adopted if it should ever come to a vote. He was determined that the Reed committee should not be allowed to pry further into the Pennsylvania primary and general elections mysteries.

He looked upon the Reed committee as entirely too unimpeachable with Senator-Elect William E. Vare and he preferred to commit himself further inquiry into the nomination and election of Mr. Vare to the privileges and elections committee, which is dominated by the old guard.

Drags Through Early Morning.

The filibuster dragged its weary length through the early morning hours yesterday, the obstructionists keeping a little stream of talk constantly trickling—just enough to hold the floor, kill time, and prevent the Reed resolution from coming to a vote.

More than sixty senators had been in attendance on the session throughout the preceding night, had not had their clothes off and had not had a wink of sleep, save at naps in their chairs or on cloakroom couches.

Day dawned and the lamps lighting the senate chamber were turned out but still the old guard senators, taking turns, talked and talked and talked. Keeping the vigil with his younger comrades, was 38 year old Senator Warren [Rep., Wyo.], who sat at his desk almost continuously for more than 24 hours, vainly watching for an opportunity to obtain final approval of the second deficiency appropriation bill.

When the senate, at 11 a. m., had been continuously in session for 34 hours, the filibuster was still going strong. Senators had breakfasted, been shaved and taken naps and were re-appearing in the chamber in larger numbers.

Warren Pleads for Truce.

Late in the afternoon, Senator Warren got the floor and earnestly pleaded with senators to suspend the conflict over the Reed resolution and dispose of the appropriation bill.

Senator Reed of Missouri replied that "the place to make that appeal is to those individuals who deliberately said that in order to cripple an investigation of fraud and corruption they would permit no legislation to be considered."

Senator Reed referred to the fact that he was a member of the Kenyon investigating committee, which inquired into campaign expenditures of aspirants for the Republican presidential nomination in 1920. As a result of that inquiry, he said, the ambitions of two candidates, Gen. Leonard Wood and Frank O. Lowden, were blighted.

What Inquiry Developed.

In the case of Gen. Wood, he said, the committee had developed the fact that "a soap manufacturer who had made Ivory soap float had attempted to float a presidential campaign." The inquiry had developed in the case of Mr. Lowden, he said, that $38,000 was paid to certain bosses in Missouri.

"For that price," he said, "the delegation from the state of Missouri was delivered to Mr. Lowden, now the champion and special friend of the farmer."

The activities of the Kenyon committee, he went on, also served to frustrate a scheme which, if permitted to develop, was intended to raise

House Follows Senate, Killing "Origin" Immigration Clause

Washington, D. C., March 2.—[Special.]—After a desperate filibuster had been waged against it all day, the senate resolution suspending operation for a year of the so-called national origin provision of the 1924 immigration act was passed in the house tonight by a vote of 233 to 111.

The resolution, postponing the effective date of the proposed new immigration quotas from July 1 next until July 1, 1928, was passed by the senate several weeks ago and now goes to the President.

Organized opposition, centering in southern delegation and led by Representative Garrett [Dem., Tenn.], the Democratic leader, was apparent from the moment the house convened and Republican leaders, who had hoped to clear the house calendar speedily, found themselves tied almost hopelessly by a rapid succession of parliamentary objections, demands for quorum counts or roll calls.

Postal Salaries Bill Shelved.

Before the situation became too tangled the treasury department reorganization bill, creating separate bureaus of prohibition and customs, was called up and passed, the only really important measure beside the national origin resolution which was passed in ten hours of squabbling.

One bill to fail by the wayside was that passed in the senate Tuesday night, and brought up in the house by Representative Sproul [Rep., Ill.], which would have increased the salaries of the postmasters at Chicago and New York from $8,000 to $12,000 a year.

In the fight forced by Garrett to delay the immigration resolution, the postmasters salary bill failed to receive the two-thirds affirmative vote required to pass it under a suspension of the rules.

New Yorkers Desert Garrett.

The Democratic filibuster collapsed suddenly at about 3:30, when New York's Tammany delegation and Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New Jersey Democrats, solidly in favor of the immigration resolution, deserted Garrett's leadership.

The previous question was ordered, the debate was had, the resolution adopted and at 10 o'clock the house recessed until 9:30 tomorrow morning.

Then, it will have just two and one-half hours to pass a flood of miscellaneous measures and act on a conference report on the second deficiency appropriation if the senate succeeds in passing it before 12 o'clock noon, when it must adjourn.

The "national origin" provision of the immigration law, it has been asserted, would materially reduce the quota allotted to northern European countries and to Ireland and has aroused strong opposition from those racial groups in this country.

Representative Box [Dem., Tex.], one of the last ditch filibusters, delivered a stirring appeal to the house not to break down the immigration bars which had been raised with much difficulty after years of fighting and warned his colleagues that "a death blow is being dealt to the country's immigration laws tonight."

Washington Notes

[By the Associated Press.]

A senate bill to increase the salaries of postmasters in the forty-six largest cities of the country was rejected by the house.

The house passed and sent to the senate a bill to increase the copyright registration fee from $1 to $2. The measure also provides a scale of increases for other fees in the copyright and trademark departments. It stipulates newspaper copyrighted articles subject to the increased rate.

In the presence of Secretary Hoover and Director Klein of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, President Coolidge signed the bill reorganizing the foreign service of the department of commerce.

The time for starting and completing a bridge across the Mississippi river at Anoka, Minn., would be extended for three years under a senate bill passed by the house and sent to the President.

Bids of both the American Cyanamid company and the Farmers' Fertilizer association for the government's Muscle Shoals properties in Alabama were rejected by the house military committee.

Senate bills to continue operation of veterans' hospitals at Saranac Lake, and Liberty, N. Y., were passed by the house and sent to the President.

Purchase by the government of forest lands would be authorized under a senate bill passed by the house. A total of $4,000,000 over a two year period would be provided.

$14,000,000 or $15,000,000 for the Republican campaign fund to other investigations in past years and then turned to the work of his own committee in the last campaign. Members of this committee, he said, were selected by Vice President Dawes and their fairness could not be challenged.

Takes Up Pennsylvania Case.

Taking up the disclosures of the inquiry into the Pennsylvania primary campaign of last year, Senator Reed pointed out that total admitted expenditures were $2,777,000.

"It is my judgment," said Senator Reed, "that we never proved more than 50 per cent of the moneys expended in that storm of gold and greenbacks."

He said that, despite the fact the Mellon-Pepper-Fisher group denounced Vare during the primary campaign as unfit to hold office, its leaders after-of our offending? It is that we, who investigated this matter, found something. That's the reason for this attack on the investigating committee."

"If we had bungled the job and failed to find anything you on the other side would be signing a Te Deum Laudamus instead of tying up the work of the senate in the effort to prevent a vote on this resolution," Reed went on. "You may filibuster this resolution to death, but with the sword you stab it you will kill all these bills, the passage of which you are preventing."

Reed characterized the old guard's demand for investigation of elections in southern states as only more time killing, asserting that if such an investigation were desired in good faith senators would have moved for it long ago.

Defines Right of Representation.

"There is great outcry," he went on, "about the right of states to equal representation in the body. The right they have is the right to be represented by men who come here with honest titles to office and not by rogues, or those who buy their way into office. I bought a title to oil lands from the church of Almighty God, and I thither like rats from sewer to sewer—I say when a cabinet member can say of such expenditures that they are as righteous as contributions to the church of Almighty God, it is time for a protecting force to be provided that shall say 'Thus far can you go and no farther.'"

Glass' Proposal Falls.

At the close of his speech, Reed asked unanimous consent to take up the pending bills and return to his resolution later. Reed of Pennsylvania returned an evasive reply, whereupon Senator Glass [Dem., Va.] made a proposal that the public building bill and deficiency appropriation bill be acted on and a vote then allowed on the Reed resolution. Reed of Pennsylvania promptly objected and once more the filibuster was on.

At 5 p. m., when the senate had been in continuous session for 31 hours, Senator Heflin [Dem., Ala.] took the floor and entered upon a lengthy defense of the laws of southern states which operate to disfranchise Negroes. Baited in regard to southern opposition to the anti-lynching bill five years ago, Heflin told with pride how he had participated in the filibuster which killed that measure.

Heflin Explains Dixie Theory.

"We in the south hold that the Negro shall be made to realize," he said, "that when he commits the unmentionable crime of which a white woman is the victim, he must die. 'You have told us that you have received threatening letters,' Senator Moses asked Heflin a little later, 'and that you carry a pistol. You now say you are receiving threatening letters. If I ask if you are now carrying a pistol?'"

"It's none of your business," retorted Heflin.

Moses wanted to know all about the incident of Heflin shooting a Negro in a Washington street car years ago. Heflin recounted the story with pride, telling how he took the Negro to a hospital and had him treated by five surgeons, at a cost of $2,000.

"After the Negro got well," said Heflin, "he came to me and thanked me, and said I had been better than a brother to him."

HOLD TWO ON GIRLS' CHARGES.

Joseph Jackson and his brother, Linwood Jackson, both of 1112 North Clark street, were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Shubart.

It was charged that they had two girls from their home in Villa Park.

BRITISH ENVOY TO U. S. PLEADS FOR GREATER ANGLO-SAXON UNITY

Washington, D. C., March 2.—[Special.]—Unity of heart and better understanding between the United States and England, was urged today by Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, in a luncheon speech on Anglo-Saxon unity, delivered at the Twentieth Century club.

Sir Esme declared that the kind of unity he would like to see between the two nations was that known as "a fraternal attitude of mind," coupled with a sense of confidence in each other's determination to prevent war between the United States and England. He was of the opinion that written alliances might be the means of inviting other nations to opposition to both England and the United States.

The British ambassador deplored the heavy expenditures of the nations of the world for armaments, but asserted that nations will have to arm until "we can get the will to peace established in the hearts of men."

REBELS BEAT U. S. CONSULAR AGENT IN NICARAGUA

BY GERALD MARTIN. (Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 2.—Three Americans suffered in the Nicaraguan war today.

William Horacio de Savigny, United States consular agent at Matagalpa, was lured from his home near the town by two rebels and severely beaten. He was wounded in the head and ribs. The assailants left him outside the gate of his coffee plantation, helpless.

Mr. De Savigny is a wealthy planter. He was born in Canada and his former home was in Minnesota. He has lived here for many years with his wife and family.

William R. Brooks of New Orleans, American aviator with the Nicaraguan National Guard, left this morning for its over the liberal lines. But he did not return tonight. His propeller snapped over Jinotega, forcing him to land. There is heavy fighting about Jinotega, which the conservative government troops are holding. They have 400 men and nine machine guns pitted against the liberal forces. It is believed Mr. Brooks is safe, but it is known that Jinotega is surrounded by liberals.

John H. Wiley, an old time resident of Matagalpa, who is constructing a highway from Managua to Matagalpa, was surrounded by his crew this morning by liberal cavalry. They forced him to surrender his entire crew, but did not hurt him.

Lee Mason of Chicago, who also is serving with the Nicaraguan conservative forces, dropped bombs this afternoon on the liberals surrounding Jinotega.

Rear Admiral Lattimer, commanding American forces in Nicaragua, left his ship at Corinto today and boarded a special train for the interior, where he will investigate, among other things, the condition of foreigners.

JURY SEEKS TO FIX BLAME FOR 5 BABY DEATHS

Nurse Admits Mistaking
Acid for Water.

A coroner's jury composed of loop businessmen sought the ultimate responsibility yesterday for the deaths of five girl babies, and the possible fatal poisoning of two others, at the Columbus hospital as a result of the blunder of nurses in giving them a bottle of acid solution in place of distilled drinking water.

All mystery in the case was cleared away in the day when three frightened young student nurses were questioned by Health Commissioner Herman J. Dundesen. One of the girls, Miss Margaret Cuff, 19 years old, admitted that she, by mistake, had replenished the babies' water bottle from a bottle which contained the deadly acid solution. This was last Saturday night.

The other girls, Aileen Callahan and Irene Schwartz, admitted that they, in ignorance of Miss Cuff's error, had permitted the infants to drink the solution.

Miss Callahan, the three girls examined and prepared the acid solution before going out duty, placing the kettle upon a window sill for the contents to cool. Miss Cuff, seeing no poison label on the kettle, assumed it contained the babies' sterilized water.

Will Exhume Four Bodies.
The bodies of four of the babies, who died on Tuesday, are to be exhumed today on orders of Coroner Oscar Wolf for a post-mortem examination. It was through chemical tests upon the body of the fifth, Baby Galitz, 14 days old, by Coroner's Chemist William D. McElally, that the presence of the poison was revealed.

Deputy Coroner Charles F. Kennedy, at the inquest held in Coroner Wolf's office, concentrated with little apparent success, in trying to find out just who was responsible for the acts of the nurses on duty upon the night of the poisoning. Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Mueller, Dr. McElally and Chief Deputy Coroner Reichenberg assisted in the quizzing of Dr. Daniel A. Orth, president of the hospital, members of his staff and nurses.

Suspected Cause of Death.
Dr. Orth admitted that he suspected fatal acid poisoning after three of the babies had died. He had been informed, he said, that "a surprising amount of acid had been used," this leading him to suspect it had become confused in some way with the water bottles.

"Did you immediately inform the coroner's office?" demanded Mr. Reichenberg.

"Well, no, but I thought Dr. Ritter, the physician in charge, did," answered Dr. Orth, who spent an uncomfortable half hour in the witness chair.

Called In Doctors.
Dr. Orth said that he had summoned Dr. Walter Hoffmann, 122 South Michigan avenue, but that Dr. Hoffmann was reluctant to offer a diagnosis for fear of offending attending doctors.

"But I insisted that he go ahead, as an emergency existed," said Dr. Orth. Dr. Hoffmann testified to calling in Coroner's Physician Zan Kopper after the fifth baby had died. Neither suspected the presence of the acid, it developed. They concluded the babies must have died of pneumonia or influenza.

Says Kettle Bears Label.
Miss Anna Haus, supervisor, who was on duty the night the acid was used for the water, testified that she had noted nothing unusual. The poison did not begin to affect the babies until after twelve hours, it was brought out.

"The acid kettle is usually labeled 'poison,'" said Miss Haus. "I don't know why it wasn't this night."

Miss Cuff and the other two nurses figuring in the fatal switching of the bottles were released from custody last night.

Coroner Wolf last night announced that he will today demand the resignation of Dr. Zan Kopper, coroner's physician who was unable to find traces of poison in the body of one of the babies and diagnosed the death as due to intestinal influenza.

C. A. JENNINGS DIVORCED; WIFE IS GIVEN $323,500

Mrs. May F. Jennings, who gave her address as 4322 North Hermitage avenue, yesterday received alimony totaling $323,500 when she obtained a divorce from Charles A. Jennings, an official of the Union Draft Gear company.

The hearing before Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch was brief. Mrs. Jennings testified that she was married in June, 1888, at St. Louis to Jennings. After they had lived together for 36 years he deserted her in May, 1924, she told the judge. They have two children, Earl Jennings, 27 years old, and Elizabeth, 35 years old.

Jennings was not present, but was represented by an attorney, who turned over to the wife $150,000 in stocks and bonds and stock worth $173,500 in the Union Draft Gear company. All in court refused to discuss the case and Mrs. Jennings could not be found at the Hermitage avenue address.

PREVOS AGAIN QUESTIONED IN BATHTUB DEATH

Delbert C. Prevos and his wife, Alice Munn Prevos, once questioned in connection with the death of Mrs. Mabel Wood in a bathtub at the Middleton hotel, 1447 East 56th street, and released when they convinced the police they had nothing to do with killing her, were requested and again released yesterday.

Mrs. Wood, who was 18 years old and had been married only five months, apparently had been strangled to death in the tub. Suspicion was directed at Prevos when residents of the hotel told of seeing him there during the evening. Another resident told of seeing Mrs. Prevos there. On each questioning they established a satisfactory alibi.

The body of Mrs. Wood was taken to Evansville, Ind., by her husband for burial. He announced that he would go to the police with fresh clues on his return.

MRS. CAROLINE C. WILLIAMS DIES IN WASHINGTON

Ex-Chicago Woman
Injured by Robbers.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., March 3.—(Special.)—Shook, suffered when she was bound and robbed by six men a year ago, is believed to be responsible for the death here today of Mrs. Caroline Caton Williams, social leader and widow of Norman Williams of Chicago.

Mrs. Williams died after an illness of several months. She was survived by a son, Norman Williams of Woodstock, Va., and two daughters, Mrs. Wilbur E. Wilder and Miss Mary Williams, both of this city.

Due to Robbers' Attack.
It was the belief of relatives today that her death was at least indirectly the result of the treatment she was subjected to when her home was robbed by six men the night of March 7, 1926. The house was entered by the armed men, who bound seven maidens to chairs in one room and robbed Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Wilder and Miss Helen Drake, a friend, of jewels valued at $2,673.

The robbers entered Mrs. Williams' room, where she was lying on the bed, and, after handling her roughly, gagged her. One of them wrenched a valuable ring from her finger. She was freed by police, summoned by one of the maids, who had escaped.

Showed Bravery.
Mrs. Williams was praised for her bravery in refusing to stop screaming when the robbers confronted her with guns. She was badly bruised and it is believed she never recovered completely from the shock of the experience.

QUIZ OAK PARKER IN CHICAGO DEATH IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—(Special.)—Mysterious circumstances attending the death of James M. Creighton, 36 year old Chicago man who came to California a year ago, caused the questioning of Eben W. Hanna, 144 Forest avenue, Oak Park, Ill., by Deputy District Attorney Ellis Eagan today.

Creighton died after an explosion in his apartment Feb. 23. Prosecutor Eagan tonight announced that the district attorney's office is not satisfied with a coroner's jury verdict of accidental death reached this afternoon.

"We are investigating the matter of a suicide note and three life insurance policies which were left by Creighton with his cousin, Eben Hanna of Oak Park, and his sister, Louise Creighton of Chicago, as beneficiaries."

Youth Dies After Leaping to Dodge Girl's Defenders

Paul Finn, 26 years old, who leaped from a third story window of the Sacks apartment at 1015 West Garfield boulevard Wednesday after breaking away from several roomers who frustrated his attempt to attack 17 year old Irma Sacks, died yesterday at the German Deaconess hospital. Finn, according to Miss Sacks, had paid attention to her for several weeks despite her protests. When she finally told him to see her no more, she said, he secreted herself in her home, and when the opportunity afforded grabbed her and dragged her into the bathroom. Her screams brought several roomers.

BRIDE'S YARN OF $5,000,000 TOLD AS A LOVE TEST

Husband Believes It and Arranges London Trip.

Mrs. Dorothy Hanley, 20 years old, 6431 Yale avenue, a bride of two months, knew from reading Doris Blake and other experts on love and matrimony that one's husband should be kept interested in life. She knew that the perfect wife greets her tired spouse at the door with a smiling face and a cheery line of chatter to take his mind off sordid mundane affairs.

So Mrs. Hanley, noted from a child for her skill in spinning wonderful romances, began a few days after her marriage to entertain her husband, Reed Hanley, University of Illinois medical student, formerly a farmer boy from Fairbury, Ill. She told him a tale which became known last night and kept several newspaper reporters excited until her story was punctured by her matter-of-fact mother, Mrs. Beatrice Brenner, 1531 South Kolin avenue.

A $5,000,000 Estate.

Mrs. Hanley announced that she and her husband were leaving tomorrow for New York to sail on the Leviathan for England. There she would inherit $5,000,000, her share in a $25,000,000 estate left by a great-uncle, Francis J. Johnston, she declared.

Her husband listened eagerly as his young wife told how she had been the favorite grandchild of the eccentric English multimillionaire. He chimed in with the news that he had thrown up his job and was all ready to take over the management of the estate. But Mrs. Brenner, the bride's mother, was both amused and indignant.

"Dorothy was always one to spin fairy tales," she said. "And she started this story, she told me, to find out if her husband would love her more if she was wealthy. She has a small basis of fact to go on. I have an uncle who died 10 years ago leaving an estate in England."

"She got so deeply into this story that she hated to tell her husband it was untrue. He believes it all but, all I can say is that he has a terrific awakening coming."

Poetry and Romance.
Mrs. Hanley told her husband that she wrote poetry and short stories as a child, and so did the fanciful great-uncle. It was this mutual interest between the 88 year old financier and his 10 year old grandchild that caused him to select her as heiress to a share of his vast estate, she told her husband.

PHILIP L. M'KEE, MANUFACTURER, SUED FOR DIVORCE

Philip L. McKee, president of the American Greenhouse Manufacturing company, and worth, his wife says, some $500,000, has been sued for divorce in the Superior court by Mrs. Gertrude P. McKee, it became known yesterday.

After twenty years of marriage the cruelty and drunkenness of McKee forced an estrangement, according to Mrs. McKee's bill, which was filed by Attorney Frank T. Jordan.

The bill also charges desertion. Their residence is 261 East Delaware place. They have one child, Merna.

M'ERLANE FREE; SAYS HE'LL LEAD AN HONEST LIFE

Promises to Quit Chicago for Other Fields.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Frank McErlane came home last night. A jury at Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday afternoon, after twenty hours of deliberation, returned a verdict acquitting him of the murder of Thad S. Fancher, and a few minutes later McErlane and his brother, Vincent, were speeding towards 6941 Anthony avenue.

Here the freed gang leader greeted first his mother and father, then Joe Salts, John Obera, and other friends, who acclaimed him as a returning hero who had vanquished powerful opponents in Indiana. Behind him, at Valparaiso, was a promise to the jurors that if McErlane were acquitted he would henceforth lead an honest and peaceful life.

Says He'll Leave Chicago.

"But I can't do that in Chicago," McErlane told newspaper men who accompanied him. "The police would pick me up. I'm going to rest for a few days at home and then I'll leave Chicago and go into business somewhere else."

"Your defense must have cost $50,000, at least?" he was asked.

A smile and a wave of the hand was the only answer.

"But, say, that had nearly got me into trouble at the last minute," McErlane exclaimed. The hat incident was one of a peculiar series in a trial that legal experts have regarded as unusual.

Story of Fancher Murder. Thad Fancher was a lawyer living at Crown Point, Ind. He was killed in a roadhouse on May 4, 1924. John O'Reilly, Alex McCabe, and Anne Tulley were arrested when their automobile went into a ditch as they fled from the scene of the crime.

O'Reilly was sentenced to life imprisonment. McCabe's first trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury. In his second trial he was convicted. Then Frank Cochran, one of the eyewitnesses to the Fancher murder, was killed, and in a subsequent trial McCabe was acquitted.

McErlane was indicted in connection with the murder, but was not arrested until early in April of 1925. Then he resisted extradition and it was not until last August that he was given into the custody of an Indiana sheriff.

ACQUITTED

Frank McErlane, found not guilty of murder in Valparaiso, Ind., trial.

Gets Change of Venue.

Lake county, Indiana, in which the crime was committed, had made large appropriations for the O'Reilly trial and the three McCabe trials and was sparing no expense to bring McErlane before a jury. Like the two others, he obtained a change of venue to Fort Wayne.

On Feb. 8 McErlane was arraigned before Judge Harry L. Crumpacker at Valparaiso. He had as his defense attorneys Joseph Conroy of Hammond, and John Crumpacker of Valparaiso. In his extradition fight in Chicago and Springfield he had been represented by attorneys Benedict Short and George Guenther, and by Thomas D. Nash and Michael Ahern.

It took more than two weeks to obtain a jury. McErlane's lawyers investigated every venemur for possible membership in the Ku Klux Klan. The presentation of evidence began on Feb. 23.

O'Reilly Accuses McErlane. John O'Reilly was the state's main witness. His story was that he was in an automobile outside the roadhouse when Fancher was killed. O'Reilly said that after the shooting McErlane came out of the roadhouse, revolver in hand, and drove the automobile away.

He said McErlane was driving the car when it was wrecked.

O'Reilly's testimony and that of Charles Layton, who said he saw McErlane at the scene of the wreck, was the state's principal evidence. In addition, the state proved that McErlane owned the wrecked automobile and Sheriff Ben Strong quoted the defendant as having said he wouldn't deny being in Indiana on the night of the murder.

There were at least five living eye witnesses to the killing of Fancher, but the state called none of them as witnesses in the trial. Two of them, Melvin Provo and Marvel McCambridge, were called by the defense and they said McErlane wasn't at the scene of the crime.

The defense also put on the stand six men from Chicago who testified that McErlane was at a chicken fight at Chicago on the night Fancher was slain. Another defense point was the testimony of two Chicagoans that O'Reilly was McErlane's chauffeur.

Testimony was given that O'Reilly was the driver of the car and had taken it into Indiana without McErlane.

Practically every witness in the trial was called a liar, crook or questionable character by the lawyers. No one's testimony was accepted by counsel at its face value.

The defense bitterly assailed O'Reilly and his testimony. They produced witnesses who said that Layton was mistaken or testifying falsely and attributing his testimony to a political job given him since the murder.

The defense wanted to introduce the testimony of two dead men, Fancher and Cochran. It was claimed that Fancher and Cochran had both identified O'Reilly as the killer, contradicting O'Reilly's statement that he was outside in the automobile.

Woman's Name Shielded. The name of one woman was shielded throughout the trial. John O'Reilly refused to give her any other name than Evans or Adams. Anne Tulley was held in jail for a year and then released.

Either of these women might have been a witness. McCabe, who was acquitted, might have been called to say that Frank McErlane was or wasn't one of the killers. Neither of the three, however, was put on the stand.

There were eight possible witnesses whose names were mentioned frequently, any of whom might have swayed the case either way, that were not there to aid the jury.

The net result was the testimony of O'Reilly and Layton against the testimony of two eyewitnesses and six alibi witnesses. And there was the hat.

Incident of the Hat. O'Reilly identified one of four hats found in the wrecked automobile as McErlane's. McErlane's past life was such that his attorneys thought it inadvisable for him to be a witness, they said. But they claimed the hat was several sizes too small for him. Conroy, whose head is much smaller than McErlane's, put the hat on when he was talking to the jury. It was too small for him.

Special Prosecutor Ralph N. Smith did the same thing and the hat seemed big enough. Attorney Crumpacker claimed Smith had stretched the hat before making the demonstration.

Following that the jury was out from 12:30 o'clock Wednesday night until 2:30 yesterday afternoon, when it returned the acquittal verdict.

Mother Prepares a Feast. "What did you do last night?" McErlane's mother asked her son after she had completed her welcome.

"I slept," he replied.

"O, how could you?" the mother exclaimed. "We walked the floor all night. But I must say a year in jail hasn't taken any weight off you," she added. "You look like you had enough to eat and I have a big dinner waiting for you."

Salts and Obera were registering hero-worship as they patted McErlane on the back and discussed the relative efficiency of the lawyers who had freed McErlane and the lawyers who had freed Salts recently of a murder charge.

"I suppose McErlane will reform now and run for office," was the comment of Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker.

U. S. MARINES TO LAND TOMORROW AT SHANGHAI

Consul Protests on Ship Seizure by Cantonese.

BY JOHN POWELL.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SHANGHAI, China, March 3.—The American authorities in Shanghai, including Consul General Gause, Admiral Williams, and Col. Hill, have decided tentatively to permit the American marines to land and march through the international settlement tomorrow morning.

Consul Gause this afternoon said the purpose of the march is "in order to exercise the marines toward American naval vessels in port. The marines will land from time to time for marches through the settlement, following which the men will be returned to the ships." He explained that he hoped this statement would allay possible Chinese suspicions regarding the American intentions.

Japanese Land Troops.

It is said there is considerable activity surrounding the contemplated American action, which is responsible for local reports that the American naval officials have been exerting pressure on Washington for permission to land the forces and participate in the marches through the settlement, similar to those conducted daily by the British since their troops arrived, and yesterday, for the first time, by Japanese naval forces.

The American action in not permitting naval and marine landings has been responsible for some tension in the local British and American communities. The British have charged the Americans with being quitters.

British Marines Go Ashore.

The Japanese announced tonight that two cruisers, the Ise and the Mutsu, will arrive tomorrow, carrying 100 marines for landing purposes, leaving the Japanese contingent to 1,000. The British also announce the arrival at Hongkong of the transport Asama, carrying battalions of Green Bermuda and Coldstream guards, both of which will be disembarked and billeted in Hongkong following demonstration marches through the British colony. A thousand more British marines were landed here today from a steamer.

The military situation in Shanghai and its environs continues quiet, although there is considerable troop movements. Gen. Chang Chung-chang's troops are replacing Marshal Ma Chuan-fang's troops, who are evacuating and joining the southern army (Cantonese).

Battle for Railroad.

Considerable fighting is occurring in the vicinity of Lake Taiho, west of Shanghai, where the Cantonese are trying to reach the railroad in the vicinity of Soochow and Changchow, 100 and 120 miles northwest of Shanghai, respectively.

At Shou-chi, the Fengtien commander, carrying the combined title of admiral and general, who is stationed at Shanghai, has ordered a Chinese fleet, consisting of four of the largest Chinese naval craft stationed in Tientsin harbor, to proceed to Shanghai.

An unconfirmed report this afternoon from Nanking says White Russian troops under Gen. Chang Chung-chang, while searching a ship docked

61 MEN ABOARD 5 BARGES ADRIFT IN ATLANTIC GALE

Nine Ships Are Battling to Reach Ports.

Norfolk, Va., March 3.—(AP)—Nine vessels, buffeted yesterday by a fierce northeast gale and heavy seas, tonight were endeavoring to reach South Atlantic harbors under their own power as the storm abated.

The fate of forty-six men on two barges which broke adrift from the tug Bathgate between Hog Island and Chincoteague, Va., remained unknown, while three other barges, each with crews of five men, also were drifting off Fenwick Island.

Reports from the steamer City of St. Louis of the Ocean Steamship company, bound north from Savannah with eighteen passengers, indicated that she was out of danger and was using her hand steering gear to continue her voyage. Last night the steamer was reported in a dangerous position off the Hatteras shoals with her power steering apparatus out of commission.

No Report Available.

Two lightships, the Charles and Number 22, and four other vessels also had been buffeted by the storm, but although no reports were available about their condition, it was believed they were out of danger. The lightships were proceeding under their own power, advices said, and no apprehension of their crews' safety was felt by the lighthouse authorities.

The schooner William Bisby South was helpless 30 miles off Henry, coast guardmen reported, showing distress signals. She had lost both anchors and her sails were damaged. Considerable uneasiness was felt here tonight as to the safety of the Williams Steamship company's steamer Willolo with 34 men aboard. Nothing has been heard from the ship since 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when a wireless message from her said she was then off Cape Henry and would dock here at 10 o'clock the same day.

FIND SARCOPHAGUS SUPPOSED TO HOLD QUEEN'S BONES EMPTY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
CAIRO, March 3.—In the presence of J. Morton Howell, American minister, and the Egyptian minister of public works, Dr. George A. Reisner of Harvard this morning opened the sarcophagus found within the tomb discovered by the Harvard-Boston expedition at Gizah, which was believed to contain the mummified body of the mother of Cheops, builder of the great pyramid. It was empty.

The steamer Firmers, bound from Dairen for Baltimore with a cargo of ore, went aground off Smith's Point, Va., where the steamer City of Annapolis was sunk in a collision last week. The British steam King David, en route to Colon, was floated after going ashore at Cape Henry and proceeded under her own power.

The Sulanierco, San Pedro for Newark, N. J., and the Mariscalbo, Curacao for New York, also in distress, had not reported their condition; earlier in the day, the latter vessel having said she "was not under control."

Sails Are Damaged.

Nothing has been heard from the ship since 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when a wireless message from her said she was then off Cape Henry and would dock here at 10 o'clock the same day.

company, who had told him he was acting on the instructions of George E. Marcy, then president of that company, he changed the records of the elevator, though about 2,000,000 bushels of wheat had deteriorated.

The samples sent from the Board of Trade arrived, and Crombie testified he darkened the basement so they would not be able to see the poor quality of the grain. They took about 30 or 40 samples, Crombie said, putting the grain in sacks, which were taken to the test room. On the first day the samples, guided by Crombie, had worked on excellent wheat, and the samples were not tampered with, but on the second day they got into the damaged grain.

When the samples left the warehouse that night, and on half a dozen nights thereafter, Crombie said he and certain men he had selected, named George Reid, Louis Oby, Jack Schwab and Robert Dorman, stayed late at the warehouse. Dorman and Schwab corroborated Crombie's testimony on what transpired in faking grain grades.

Advises Mental Picture.
"Before we do anything," Crombie said he told the men, "we better take a picture of this thing in your minds now and see that everything is left exactly as it is now. You know particular Charlie Brinkerhoff (one of the samplers) is."

Five or six bags of grain were brought up nightly from bins which contained high grade wheat, Crombie said.
"We opened the sample bags," he then testified, "and threw the bag and the tag in the pan with the grain. We used screens to sieve the samples, and if there was any weevil in them. This sample was then passed to me at the end of the table for final inspection."

Some Samples "Touched Up."
"If the sample was O. K. I immediately put it back in the bag. If it needed a little touching up, I got some grain from bags which were brought from the basement, and brought it (the sample) up to what I thought would make the grade on the tag. If it showed too much skin damage, wheat, or too much heat damage, I would dump the entire sample out and substitute a new sample."

"The next morning the samples were weighed by the board of trade men, and then put on a truck to be taken down to the board."

Thompson denied the entire story of the switching of the samples. The changing of the books he said was done with Mr. Marcy's knowledge. Mr. Marcy having asked him to put what he considered a fair grade on all the grain in the elevator. He denied there was an attempt to put a false value upon the grain to make it appear more valuable to the farmer purchasers.

Believes Officials Knew.
Quoting directly from Mr. Brown's report, the aftermath of the sample switching is thus told by him:

"The clear preponderance of the evidence is . . . that by the close of navigation in 1924 officers of the Armour Grain company knew that there was a considerable quantity of badly burnt wheat in the Northwestern elevator and that a large part of it had come over from the Armour Grain company."

"As the reports of the appraisers disclosed only one small bin of badly burnt wheat they must have known, or suspected so strongly as to be chargeable with knowledge, that the samples taken in August had been tampered with. They did not disclose to the others interested in the Grain Marketing company the bad conditions existing at the Northwestern . . . but on the contrary said there was no low grade wheat in the house. They did not change the management of the elevator."

The inference is unavoidable that they were then trying to conceal something that had happened in connection with the Grain Marketing company and were willing to continue an inefficient management to effect that concealment.

Says Graft Was Charged.
"On April 15 or 16 Marcy received an anonymous letter to the effect that Crombie had made $1,700,000 for the Armour Grain company by cheating

SENATE CONFIRMS 3, REJECTS 2 FOR U. S. RADIO COMMISSION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., March 3.—[Special.]—The senate today confirmed three of the five men nominated by President Coolidge for the newly created federal radio commission. Two of the presidential appointees failed to win approval because of their connection with Secretary Hoover, who will have control after the first year.

Rear Admiral William H. Bullard, retired, of Media, Pa.; Eugene C. Sykes of Jackson, Miss.; and John F. Dillon of San Francisco, Cal., were the three affirmed.

Orestes H. Caldwell of Bronxville, N. Y., an editor of radio magazines, and Henry A. Bellows of Minneapolis, director of the Gold Medal radio station there, were rejected. It was explained that Caldwell and Bellows had failed to win approval because both of these men, together with Dillon, had been recommended by Hoover.

Mr. Fear expressed that if all three were confirmed it might place too much control in the hands of the secretary.

with Thompson on the grades of grain delivered to the Grain Marketing company and that Thompson had boasted that Crombie was to receive $20,000 for his part in the fraud. Nothing was done to investigate this letter and it was seen only by Marcy and Kellogg, vice president of the Armour Grain company, and Thompson.

"On April 29 Crombie wrote a letter to Marcy, which started out by offering his resignation. Crombie stated that when the Grain Marketing company came into effect Thompson came to him and suggested raising the stocks of wheat in the Northwestern elevator as a means of making money for the Armour Grain company."

"That he had changed the samples taken by the board of trade sampling department, and that Thompson had promised that there would be a big split and that Crombie would get his share. That he had received nothing and that 'he was interested in knowing whether the big split had come yet or not.' What did Marcy do when he received this letter? He testified that he read it to or discussed it with both Kellogg and Thompson.

Keeps Crombie on Job.
"Marcy sent for Crombie immediately and persuaded him to withdraw his resignation and sent him back to the Northwestern elevator, but did not interrogate him in any way, shape or manner about the change of samples. Crombie was continued as superintendent of the elevator until late in June, when Marcy told him to take a trip to California and gave him the trip. Incidentally his salary as superintendent was continued down to the date he testified before the arbitrator.

"During all the intervening period neither Marcy nor any other representative of the Armour Grain company said anything to any officer of the Grain Marketing company or anybody connected with the two Rosenbaum concerns about the charges made by Crombie that the samples taken in August, 1924, had been changed.

Feels They Believed Crombie.
"Only one explanation of their conduct is possible and that is that they knew the charges contained in Crombie's letter that the samples had been changed was true, and that they had been and still were trying to conceal the fact."

"Assuming that the grain in the elevator was not of the grades represented in the bill submitted by the Armour Grain company to the Grain Marketing company, and that it was seriously overstated in quantity and quality and that the samples had been changed by employees of the Armour Grain company acting within the scope of the employment as a result of a fraudulent conspiracy on their part and for the supposed benefit of their employer, and that this change was known subsequently to the general officers of the Armour Grain company and concluded by them, and that as part of the concealment they maintained an inefficient management in charge of the elevator, and that this change of samples and lack of knowledge on the part of the Grain Marketing company of its true condition resulted in great subsequent loss in the operation of the elevator, to what relief are the complainants in this case entitled?"

"It seems clear to me that they are not limited to the difference between the actual value of the wheat and the price paid therefor, but are entitled to either relief by some form of equitable recession or to the proximate damages suffered by them as well as the direct damage represented by the difference in value."

AWARD SURPRISES MARCY.
Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—[Special.]—George E. Marcy, former president and now chairman of the Armour Grain company, who is here looking over his fruit ranch at Santa Ana, was greatly surprised at the award made by E. E. Brown as arbitrator.

Mr. Marcy said that while he was in California several years ago the employees in the office became careless and allowed several million bushels of grain in the Northwestern elevator to get out of condition.

The full amount of the award cannot be determined, he says, until it is figured over by accountants, which will take some time. J. Ogden Armour has been in California looking over his Sutter Basin interests and has conferred frequently with Mr. Marcy. He, with members of his family and his nephew, Philip D. Armour III, and Lester Armour, own about 85 per cent of the Armour Grain company stock.

MEXICAN ENVOY TO WASHINGTON HURRYING HOME

last night, but refused to see newspaper men. All today he refused to be interviewed. Mexican officials at the embassy admitted his presence in the city, but apologetically said they were unable to locate him at any particular time.

It is the usual practice for an ambassador to personally deliver a note from his government, but Senor Telles did not take the Mexican reply to Secretary Kellogg's note of last Friday to the state department today.

Early this evening it was stated at the ambassador's home that he had left the city and would not be back for some time. Later it was confirmed that he had departed for Mexico City.

Senor Don Castro-Leal, counselor of the Mexican embassy, is now in charge, but he would not discuss the situation tonight. Neither would he discuss the note which his government delivered here today.

REPORTS CONFLICTING.
Dispatches from Mexico late tonight gave opposing views on the reason for Ambassador Telles's recall.

The Associated Press quoted Under Secretary Estrada as saying that the report that Telles was persona non grata was unfounded.

"The foreign office does not know the source of such report," Estrada said, "which is considered without foundation. The foreign office has not received any such notification."

The United Press, on the other hand, flatly declared that a "persona non grata" note had been sent by Washington to Mexico.

"Demand for recall of Mexican Ambassador Telles from the United States on the grounds that he was persona non grata in Washington was made in the recent American note to Mexico, delivered here early this week," the United Press says.

"Mexico's reply to the note from the United States already has been delivered in Washington," the dispatch continued.

REPORT M'VEAGH IMPROVED AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT
The condition of Franklin M'Veagh, former secretary of the treasury, who was injured in an automobile accident on Tuesday, was reported improved last night at St. Luke's hospital. Despite his age, 87, physicians said he showed remarkable vitality and it probably would be possible for him to leave the hospital in a few days.

No deaths in accidents in Cook county were reported yesterday, the total since Jan. 1 remaining at 140.

John Rooney, 23 years old, 8114 Harvard avenue, was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile at 75th street and Vincennes avenue.

FRIENDS INSIST CROARKIN HAS CHILDISH MIND

But Admit He Drives an Auto with Skill.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Harold J. Croarkin's trial for the murder of 6 year old Walter Smith a week before Christmas passed yesterday from descriptions of the actual killing and the confession of Croarkin to the field of abnormal psychology, where the defense began to glean odd facts and incidents to lay the foundation for the plea of insanity.

State's Attorney Crowe rested his case at noon, and admittedly it was a hard and fast case. The only way out for the son of the Croarkins is to paint his mental conditions from babyhood as black as possible. The defendant had heard all the police evidence against him without any show of emotion, but when the neighbors and friends of his family began to take the witness stand and tell of his peculiar acts he seemed to shrink miserably.

Killed for Fear? Or Accident?

The crux of the case comes in the motive for the killing. The defense does not accept the confession of Croarkin that he killed because he had taken indecent liberties with the little boy and was afraid of the penitentiary. Their theory is that he always had been defective, that his mind had been rapidly failing for two years, and that he was driven mad on Dec. 17, made into a maniac, by the knowledge that he had lost his sweetheart.

The killing of the Smith boy, according to this theory, was an accident. It might have been any other boy that crossed his path or annoyed him. The state, however, has put in evidence to show that Croarkin behaved as usual that morning, at least attracted no attention from the men or boys at the Devon riding academy, where he spent his time from noon on, and that he acted in the killing, not with sudden rage, but coolly.

Mrs. Peter Croarkin, the defendant's mother, is expected to take the stand today and his father, who has long been an invalid, also may appear before the trial is over.

Alienist Helps Prosecutor.

Over the objections of the defense Chief Justice Lindbergh permitted Drs. W. J. Krohn and H. Douglas Singer, state alienists, to sit in the courtroom during the testimony of the defense witnesses to guide the state's attorney in his cross-examinations, but not to advise the defendant.

Mrs. John Spangler, 7454 South Shore drive, formerly a neighbor of the Croarkins, testified that Hallie, an undeveloped child who never spoke, played only with his twin sister Hortense, would stand back of chairs, and was very peculiar. She went away for eight years and when she returned and saw Hallie she was shocked to find that he still was acting like a child.

"At dinner," she said, "Hallie never would pay any attention to any of us. He never would talk. His father always would serve him first. His eyes were peculiar. He would stare and if you looked at him he would drop his eyes in a shifty way. He did not play with the boys, but played jacks and ball with his sisters. His father always shielded him and protected him like a little child."

But He Could Drive Auto.

"You knew he had an automobile?" asked Mr. Crowe on cross-examination.

"Yes, he had one and drove it very well."

Vincent Ciohley, 1225 Albion avenue, an investment broker and friend of the Croarkins for years, said Hallie would not appear at dinner unless his father was there, that he was cared for as a child, was nervous, with twitching face, especially when talking. He would not engage in conversation of his own initiative, but if spoken to would answer in a childish way. His father obeyed his wishes and always gave him the best pieces of meat. Young Croarkin would approach people in a sort of dance or shuffle, laughing. He would say it was a nice day whether it was or not. His father always tried to protect him and would bring him into parties, put him on the back, and say, "This is my son, this is my boy, Hallie."

BRITISH WOMEN STORM COMMONS, ASK EQUAL RIGHTS

LONDON, March 2.—(A.P.)—A group of women today descended on the house of commons to campaign for their demand that the government grant all women over 21 the ballot on the same terms as men now have it. The women massed before the entrance and were admitted to the lobby in groups of twenty-five. There they buttonholed all the members they could find to urge immediate consideration of the measure to do away with the law that now restricts the ballot to women 30 years of age or older.

For several hours the women heckled members who came into the lobby at the request of their constituents. A majority of the members refused to come out. After the lobby episode, the National Union of Societies for Equal Citizenship held a rally at Central hall.

Mr. Crowe asked if Hallie was not treated as a spoiled child. Mr. Crowe asked the witness for one answer by Hallie to a question put by him.

Said He Would Be Farmer.

"Well, I asked him what business he would like to go into," Ciohley replied, "and he said he didn't know and then that he guessed he would like to be a farmer."

"You know he had studied chemistry?" Mr. Crowe asked.

"I had heard so," the witness said.

"Did it strike you as strange that a young man who had been in the flour business with his father should want to be a farmer?"

"Well, it was the way in which he said it."

Mr. Crowe revealed that when Mrs. Ciohley had been in a hospital to have an operation performed, Dorothy and Hallie Croarkin called for her with an auto and Hallie drove to the Ciohley home.

Edward Beauchie, 4341 North Albany avenue, a baker, said Hallie Croarkin used to come into his place often and once when his father was trying to start him in the flour business he gave the young man an order for 10 or 15 barrels. Two days later, he said, Hallie came back and asked if he did not want to order some more flour.

"He would say, 'nice day,'" said the baker. "Once I saw him gazing into space and there was a look in his eyes that made me afraid. I took away a rolling pin that was lying near him."

Mrs. Bernice Ciohley, wife of Vincent, said she had known Hallie and Hortense Croarkin since she was 13 years old.

The witnesses agreed that Hallie was good tempered, modest, gentle and under his father's tender care, even up to three or four weeks before the killing.

Fire Near Hospital Routs Many Families Into Street

A fire in a seventy-six apartment building yesterday caused a damage of $50,000 and forced the occupants to flee to the street. The fire started in a garbage chute, evidently from a cigarette. The building is known as the Lincoln apartment hotel and is directly opposite the Henrotin hospital at 946 North La Salle street. Many men and women were carried to safety by the firemen.

The usual result of the first ride— "MUSCLES ALL TIED UP IN HARD KNOTS!"

Limbers up quickly
after hard ride

"After several years' absence from the saddle, I took a hard horseback ride, and the next day my muscles were all tied up in hard knots. I applied Sloan's Liniment. Right away the tension in the muscles began to relax and in an hour or so they felt as limber as ever." Thousands of letters like this tell of the amazing relief that Sloan's gives to muscular pain. Sloan's gives real and lasting help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause. Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing stream of fresh, new blood. And stiff muscles quickly relax, and pain stops as the healing stream carries off the "fatigue poisons." All druggists—J.C. Co., Dr. Earl S. Sloan, 113 W. 18th St., New York.

THE REAL REASONS

Countless customers have sought information from us that would explain our low prices in comparison to the high quality of our merchandise, so we make public this statement.

The primary reason for our low prices is that we import direct the precious stones we sell at retail. Secondly, we operate our own workshops right in conjunction with our retail establishment . . . and the original cost of production is the one and only cost to us.

BOLO BLACK RUST EATS UP WHEAT; MEXICO IN WANT

U. S. to Give 2,000,000
Bushels Free of Duty.

BY JOHN CORNRYN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
MEXICO CITY, March 3.—Sixty thousand tons of wheat will be needed in the next two months from outside of Mexico to keep the Mexican people in bread. A presidential decree was issued today permitting the importation of wheat free of duty. The lack of wheat cultivation is due to the successive revolutionary activities and the inroads of the agrarians upon the cultivated wheat area of Mexico. A further decline in wheat production is predicted for next fall because of the decreased planting and increased consumption in areas under the influence of the Mexican Federation of Labor.

Thousands of families who had capital invested in ranches have withdrawn from Mexico in the last six months, and this also has contributed largely to the decrease in agricultural production.

20,000,000 Bushels from U. S.
A prominent grain dealer said today: "More than 20,000,000 bushels of wheat will be required from the United States to supply the shortage in the coming wheat season. Regardless of the national program against importation of foreign products, food not grown here must be imported. Of these the most important of these is wheat."

In several states the agrarians have made the existence of large ranches precarious. The newspaper El Sol, which has been investigating agrarian activities in the state of Puebla, says agrarian bands have been assassinating the leaders and prominent members of the Mexican Federation of Labor in many towns in retaliation for Gov. Montes' war on the federation. El Sol gives a list of instances where innocent persons, who were not given an opportunity to defend themselves, were assassinated. In three instances, says El Sol, prominent persons, including whole families, were killed in their homes.

City Council Ousted.
Orders were given today by the war department to remove the city council of Hinton, state of Guanajuato, imposing a military government on the town, because the council has openly sided with the rebels and helped them. It was said that numerous arrests of prominent citizens have been ordered.

Military reports from the state of Jalisco says that people in many sections are aiding the rebels against the federal army.

SEIZE FANATIC, CARRYING KNIVES, AT COLLINS' DOOR

Seized yesterday, a man, said to be insane, was believed to have sought to kill Chief of Police Collins. The man was locked up in a cell at the central police station last night pending an examination as to his mental condition.

With two butcher knives concealed in his hip pockets, the man tried to force his way into the chief's office on the fifth floor of the city hall late yesterday. When officers attached stopped him he started to fight and was subdued after a struggle.

The would-be assassin gave the name of John Zmuda, 38 years old, 5063 Winthrop avenue, and his occupation as an upholsterer. Police said he is a religious fanatic.

Several times during the day, according to Sgt. Reuben Kersting of the chief's office, Zmuda had wandered into the office and asked for the chief. Told that the chief was out, he said he would return. The last time he became abusive and started to rush through the inner door.

Sergeants Kersting, Harry Donnelly, John Kratzmeyer, and Otto Dophield grappled with him. Throwing him to the floor, they found the butcher knives, wrapped in brown paper, in his pockets. The officers then dragged him, screaming wildly, through a crowd of spectators, to a patrol wagon outside.

At the station last night Zmuda berated the police department, declaring that he had been sent to the Bridge when a boy and has been persecuted ever since.

BURNS PROVE FATAL.
Fred B. Kline, 38, living in Edgewater Park near River Forest, died in the Oak Park hospital yesterday. Tuesday night a kerosene lamp he was emptying exploded and scorched his clothing and a rug of the room with burning oil.

GARY WIDOW IS GIVEN LIFE AS HUSBAND SLAYER

A jury at Crown Point, Ind., yesterday found Mrs. Virginia Mullins, a middle aged widow, guilty of the murder of her husband, Joseph Mullins, and sentenced her to life imprisonment. Only one ballot was taken.

Joseph Mullins was shot and killed about a year ago while he was walking through a park in Gary with his wife. The state presented evidence to show that Mrs. Mullins and William Donaldson, a roomer in her home, had plotted the death of the husband so that they might be married.

Donaldson was tried last fall. He was found guilty and also sentenced to life imprisonment. Mrs. Mullins was a witness against him. She placed the full responsibility on him, denying that she had encouraged him. Mullins was a steel mill foreman.

SWEDISH PRINCE LEAVES TO VISIT IN TWIN CITIES

Prince William of Sweden, who has held Chicago's interest for several days with his tales of big game hunting in Africa, left last night for Minnesota, where he will visit four cities before returning to Chicago on March 18. His departure from the Northwestern station at 5:30 o'clock was unnoticed by most of the thousands of commuters rushing to make their trains.

The prince's day yesterday was, in his words, just as he wanted it to be—leisurely and uncrowded. He had luncheon with Charles F. Swift, who conducted his royal guest through the stockyards plants, where he was shown the preparation of meat that he sometimes eats in the palace in Sweden. The prince had remained in bed until nearly 10:30 a. m., making up for sleep that he lost while telling stories of his expedition to Africa to friends who gathered in his suite.

SMITH AND VARE TO GO ON SENATE PAY ROLL TODAY

Temporary Door Opened
by Parliamentary Usage

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., March 3.—[Special.]—Frank L. Smith of Illinois and

William S. Vare of Pennsylvania will go on the government pay roll at noon tomorrow as United States senators. Offices have been assigned to them in the senate office building, and their secretaries, clerks and messengers will receive government salaries.

Notwithstanding the refusal of the senate to permit

Mr. Smith to take the oath during the present session under his appointive credentials, he will commence his service as a senator tomorrow under his elective credentials in the same manner as will others elected for the first time last fall.

Next Move to Come in December.

Whether Mr. Smith and Mr. Vare will be able to function on the floor of the senate next winter remains to be determined. Neither will have an opportunity to take the oath until December. At that time it is expected that resolutions will be offered directing them to stand aside when others take the oath and providing for investigations by the committee on privileges and elections. A majority vote will be sufficient for such action. If permitted to take the oath a two-thirds vote may be necessary to expel them.

That neither Mr. Smith nor Mr. Vare will be permitted to hold his seat was asserted on the floor of the senate today by Senator Lenroot (Rep., Wis.). The way was paved for getting the two senators elected and their office forces on the pay roll today with the filing of their credentials with the senate.

Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.) first presented the revised Vare credentials just issued by Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania as a substitute for the credentials signed by former Gov. Pinchot, in which the opinion was expressed that the election was tainted with corruption.

Senator Deneen (Rep., Ill.) presented the Smith elective credentials, which had not heretofore been offered to the senate.

Credentials in Proper "Form."

On the motion of Senator Reed (Dem., Mo.) credentials of both men were referred to the committee on privileges and elections. This committee was called together immediately afterward, and with but brief discussion approved a report holding the credentials to be in proper form.

Attorneys for Smith and Vare and members of the elections committee were of the opinion that the mere filing of the credentials with the senate was all that was necessary to give them the full privileges of senators between March 4 and the convening of congress in December.

William H. Culver of Chicago, who has been with Mr. Smith since the latter served in the house, is here prepared to qualify as his secretary at noon tomorrow.

Illinois politicians are speculating as to what effect the placing of Mr. Smith on the pay roll, with all the perquisites of a senator, will have upon the patronage situation. Senator Deneen has been in complete control of Illinois patronage since the death of Senator McKinley.

The question is now whether President Coolidge will give recognition to Mr. Smith or whether he will deal only with Senator Deneen until final action is taken by the senate.

Direct Cable to Germany to Be Opened Today

BERLIN, Germany, March 3.—[AP.]—Direct cable communication between Germany and the United States, interrupted since the world war, is to be restored tomorrow by the opening of the new Emden-Asores cable, which connects with the Asores-New York line. An exchange of greetings between Presidents Coolidge and Von Hindenburg will mark the formal opening of the new line for commercial use, which is scheduled for 1 p. m.

YOUTH UNDER PROHIBITION.

The Chicago Woman's club is giving attention to a survey made by a committee of which Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch is chairman. It was an inquiry into the drinking habits of young people. It was agreed that, particularly in suburban communities, these habits were alarming, with young married people setting the pace and boys and girls following after. One club woman said that invitations to dinner would not be accepted if it were known that no liquor would be served. Another, a physician, said she frequently was consulted by girls who said they had been so intoxicated they did not recall what had happened to them.

Modern American youth has its defenders and its critics and it is probably in part straight and fine and in part reckless or wild. The club women are considering consequences. They can hardly fail to see causes.

Prohibition has done everything to make drinking both attractive and disgusting. It has put a stunt value on it for youth. It has made drinking a defiant adventure, an excursion to forbidden lands. Healthy youth has no natural inclination to drink alcohol. Even in sensation it has nothing to gain by doing so and it has everything to lose. No healthy boy or girl wants the sensation of alcoholic exhilaration, much less that of intoxication. It is unpleasant. It blurs the sensations of physical and mental well being. It means discomfort and disagreeable physical experiences.

A boy taking his first drink may think he is having an adult experience, but he quickly knows he has had something unpleasant, both in taste and in consequences. Youth is its own exhilaration, which alcohol spoils. The parents of present day youth know that from their own experiences. They know that in their day the code of youth was against drinking. Boys just going into their twenties or even a little before that might seek an occasional experiment with intoxication, but drinking was against their ideas of decent conduct. They regarded a boy as rather vile who would go into the company of girls drunk or get drunk with them. For him and his girl companions to get drunk together would have been considered unbelievable.

That was true of the communities in which the club women found the survey distressing and disturbing. Prohibition has put a value on drinking. It is supposed to be smart. A party isn't a party unless it has enough drink. The girl is a good fellow if she drinks. Sister steps out.

Self-restraint disappears. There is a law substituted for that. Father has his pint at home or he knows where he can get the grain. Law has said what his conduct shall be and he says it shall not say. He drinks in his home. It is the most comfortable place in which he can drink. If he invites guests to his table he feels a moral responsibility in providing them with what he would expect them to provide him if he were at their table. The American home before prohibition was not accustomed to the general use of alcoholic beverages in the entertainment of friends. If the men wanted drinks they got them in the saloon. Their wives did not drink. There were good citizens of continental European stock to whom the home use of alcoholic beverages was natural, a part of their custom, but the stock derived from earlier America did not have this in their ordinary usage. Now they have.

It is a new world to American youth and a bad one. Self-indulgence has taken the place of self-restraint. Law isn't a substitute for character. Mr. Volstead couldn't put conscience in American citizens. He could put rebellion. He could give an added value to intoxication and he has. He could make liquor harder to get and viler to drink and he did. He also could make it more sought after and he has.

Prohibition could make American boys and girls think that drinking was a desirable pleasure in life. It could upset their standard of values, their ideas of happiness, their ways of enjoying themselves.

Their elders can't restrain them. They have thrown away a good many of their own restraints. Conditions of life have changed in the United States and people have changed with them.

KEEP UP OUR DEFENSES.

The President's approval of three naval bills will have the indorsement of the nation, saving, of course, the inconsiderable but conspicuous minority which opposes all practical measures for the maintenance of the national defense. The bills cover appropriations for the construction of three cruisers, for the elevation of the main batteries on the battleships Oklahoma and Nebraska, for needed work at several stations on the Pacific coast and Hawaii, and other naval purposes. The bill for gun elevation contains the reservation that it shall not violate the limitation treaty, and our government's position on that issue is far from satisfactory, but we hope an adjustment will be made in some fair and self-respecting way. At any rate, congress has done its duty in providing means to make the changes.

As for the President's reported fears that a demonstration that we intend to keep up our naval defense will in any respect militate against his hopes of further limitation of armament, we cannot see that they have any foundation. Our status is far below our rights under the Washington treaty and our policy of restraint has produced no limitation in the naval policy of the other signatory governments. If anything it has encouraged their activity, and we ask the President to draw the proper conclusion from conditions rather than to ask us to speculate upon hopes which our experience does not support. We ask him also to consider, as a practical statesman, whether to develop our own strength is not far more likely to induce the other naval powers to agree upon sensible limitation than a policy on our part of inaction and naval retrogression.

ESAU SELLS HIS BIRTHRIGHT.

There are few of us in this age of the automobile and easy transportation who will not sympathize with any community that wants a good highway. But even a good highway can be purchased at too high a price. Some of the good roads in this state have cost too much whether the communities they serve realize it or not. In this class will be the road that the town of Bradford, in Stark county, may get because its citizens ordered their representative to vote against Justice Stone. Perhaps the inhabitants of Bradford have read of Esau, who sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. It was good pottage and Esau was hungry, but his bargain has not been much respected in after times.

Route 88 in Bradford may be a great convenience. It will not be a monument of which Bradford will have reason to be proud.

Small is an elected servant of the people of Illinois, including the people of Bradford, but Bradford cringes under his whip and buys what it should have got of right if it ought to have it at all. Bradford may get its road, but it has sold its good name in the eyes of all self-respecting communities.

Not that Bradford is alone in this sorry plight. Small has lined up other communities by the same method. It is a high price for Illinois. The whole nation is watching this attempt to control the highest court of the state, to punish a conscientious public servant for doing his duty, to teach the judiciary of a great commonwealth that it must do the bidding of unscrupulous politicians. In the Fifth judicial district American citizenship is on trial, on trial before its own conscience, on trial before the citizenship of the nation. A people that will not defend the integrity of its courts are lacking in the intelligence required for self-government.

Political office seekers and seekers of political favors may betray us, and we have the remedy in our own hands. But when we betray ourselves, where is the remedy?

THE PRESIDENT'S RADIO COMMISSION.

The President's selections for the newly created radio commission make an auspicious beginning for the new system of control. All the appointees save Mr. Sykes are men of technical, engineering knowledge and experience in the radio field and Mr. Sykes, a lawyer and former justice of the Mississippi Supreme court, will provide the necessary expert advice on the legal problems with which the commission will have to deal. The chairman, Rear Admiral Bullard, retired, is a naval officer of distinction; Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Bellows, and Mr. Dillon are all radio specialists and their ability is well vouchered for.

The task of the commission at this stage of radio development is a most complicated and difficult one. The commission will need much tact and good sense, besides its technical knowledge, and also it will need to back sound judgment with the courage to withstand pressure and attack. We think the President's selections justify public confidence and ought to be confirmed by the senate.

The Other Side

LEIF ERICSON DRIVE.

[The Chicago Scandinavian.]

THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE has carried on a considerable propaganda against the naming of Leif Ericson drive.

When informed by the south park commissioners that the naming of this beautiful drive had been under careful consideration for more than six months and that it was definitely and permanently named in honor of the viking discoverer of America, The Tribune even suggested that the public might, and very likely would, disregard the name of Leif Ericson drive and call it the Outer drive, as proposed by The Tribune.

This Tribune was also strongly opposed to the naming of Wacker drive. Was it, perhaps, because that name suggests a German origin? Will The Tribune tolerate or approve of no names except those of strictly British derivation? It would seem so, as we have heard of no protest or remonstrance from The Tribune to the naming of McCormick boulevard. Does The Tribune recognize only people of British descent and carrying British names as being 100 per cent American?

If so, Americans of Norwegian, Swedish, German, Irish, and Danish descent, and all the other races now being belted into one, disagree totally with the paper. We honor and revere our Norwegian immigrant fathers, who came here during the last 100 years and helped to settle and build up large parts of the northwest, as being fully equal to and just as worthy of our respect and admiration as the English Pilgrim fathers who came to these shores in 1620.

The Pilgrim fathers settled the country east of the Alleghenies. Ours did the same in the northwest; they fought the Indians, so did ours; they were ready to sacrifice their lives, if required, for their new country; so were ours, and so are we.

To cap the climax of its shortsighted campaign, The Tribune prints an editorial a few days later headed "Point de Saible." In which it laments, with subtle sarcasm, the fact that no one has thought of remembering the first settler in Illinois, a West Indian Negro, called Point de Saible, by naming a boulevard or drive for him. The Tribune describes the Negro as "a large man, a trader, pretty wealthy, who drank freely." The editorial ends in this manner: "Nothing much has been done in his memory heretofore. It might occur to the Second ward (Negro ward) that something should be."

ON LOCATION.

They were going out on location. "Tell the scout to locate a hydrant," directed the director.

"Yes, sir."

"And, Andy, you bring along a coil of garden hose."

"Yes, sir."

"James, have you the watering pot?"

"Yes, sir."

The big boss happened to be passing and inquired: "What's up?"

"We are going to film 'The Tempest'."—Judge.

COOK'S TOUR.

"You have a wonderful cook. She has taken such pains with everything. I could never get a cook like that."

"It's the one you discharged last week, dearie. I told her you were lurching with me today."

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

COOKED VS. RAW FOODS.

There are people who sincerely believe in eating raw foods. When they are questioned it is generally found that their notions are hazy, and mixed in with them is a good deal of mysticism and pseudo science. They do have some ground on which to stand. Cooking does have a destructive action on some vitamins, particularly the vitamin which prevents scurvy. It does remove some food values, particularly some of the minerals. It lessens the digestibility of a few foods, for instance, cabbage. In cooking, harmful condiments are sometimes added. Soda is added in the cooking of some foods and that is harmful. Eating over-hot foods may be one contributing cause of cancer and, finally, cooking is troublesome, expensive and wasteful.

Those who believe in cooking foods have arguments on their side, as well as custom. They say cooking does not materially harm any vitamin, except that which protects against scurvy. If the usual diet is not sufficiently protective against scurvy, all we need to do is to drink some fruit juice or eat a heavy fruit, such as an orange.

It is not necessary to add soda to any food in the cooking process. The addition of condiments is a matter of taste, and the criticism applies to raw foods as well as to cooked ones. It is overcooked foods that are indigestible. There is no justification for overcooking cabbage, or any other food.

There are methods of cooking that do not waste the food elements. If the juice which is lost from foods, such as the cleaner washings are kept and made into soups, liquors and sauces, the charge of waste falls.

There have always been people who have wondered about the enduring fondness for soups. One reason is that soups are rich in minerals, vitamins and fats—those elements that are sometimes washed or leached out in other cooking processes. Pot liquor is especially valuable because it is a catch bag for all these valuable ingredients—ingredients which might otherwise be lost.

In a study of the relative wastefulness of different methods of cooking vegetables, Mrs. A. B. writes: My children have said that I had them under the care of a physician since last fall, but it doesn't seem to help any. Pimples appear on the body and then turn into boils.

1. How long will this last? What is the best cure, if any?

2. Will diet help?

3. Would yeast be all right for them to take to purify the blood?

REPLY.

1. Sulphur ointment will cure scabies (or dandruff). The cure is certain and prompt if you use the ointment right, and uncertain and slow otherwise.

2. The sulphur must get into every tick hole. That means that every scab must be soaked or scrubbed off and the ointment must be thoroughly rubbed in.

3. Some penetrating sulphur ointment like Lumbholtz's gets into the holes better than the ordinary ointment does. The parasites in the clothing must be killed by heat.

4. No.

5. The blood needs no purifying. It is a matter of skin bugs, not blood.

MARCH 4, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Although the menace of war with Germany looms more threateningly upon the American horizon than ever before, numerous measures to defend the nation appeared early this morning to be jammed fatally in the legislative machinery of the expiring Sixty-fourth congress.

The trouble is in the senate, which is tied up—it seems hopelessly—for the night over President Wilson's measure authorizing American ships to arm to repel German submarines, empowering the executive to supply arms, ammunition, and gunners, and to employ "other instrumentalities" to protect Americans and American vessels on the high seas.

Twelve senators are conducting a filibuster against the measure. The leaders are W. J. Stone (Dem.) of Missouri, R. M. La Follette (Rep.) of Wisconsin, R. C. Cummins (Rep.) of Iowa, A. J. Gronna (Rep.) of North Dakota, W. L. Jones (Rep.) of Washington, and G. W. Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska.

WASHINGTON.—At 3:30 a. m. Senator Hitchcock read into the record a manifesto to the American people signed by seventy senators declaring their favor for the passage of the President's measure declaring that under the rules permitting unlimited debate it is impossible to obtain a vote before noon.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson will take the oath, which makes him President for another term at noon today (Sunday), privately and without ceremony in his office in the capitol. Tomorrow he will take another oath at the state and the reception committee at the capitol.

CHICAGO.—State Attorney Hoyne's investigation of graft in the police department came to a startling climax when eight lieutenants of police confessed that former Chief Charles C. Healey held up eleven police sergeants for $3,200 last July before signing the order promoting them to lieutenants.

Lieut. Michael W. Delaney confessed that he himself handed the $3,200 to Healey.

CHICAGO.—Prince Henry of Prussia arrived in Chicago after a daylight ride through Illinois from St. Louis. He was welcomed at the station by Mayor Harrison, Dr. Weyer, the German consul, and the reception committee. He was escorted to the Auditorium through streets crowded by thousands and lighted by red lights. He attended his first ball in America at the Auditorium where 2,000 men and women bade him welcome. He led the grand march with Mrs. Harrison. As he entered the great hall with its masses of color the bands struck up the air of "Hell Dr. im Siegesmarsch," and deep throated German "Hochs" and Yanks yells greeted him. A live-

CHURCHILL STORY OF WAR DRAWS FIRE OF FRENCH

Officials Deny Charges of Army Mutiny.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)
LONDON, March 3. — Winston Churchill's narrative of the last two years of the war, in the book, "The World Crisis," has brought considerable criticism from British reviewers for what is called his "jargonese" style and has let the chancellor of the exchequer in for as many controversies as he wants from the French.

Mr. Churchill's references to the French retreat at Chemin des Dames in May 1918, has been stormily attacked and denied. French officials only hasten to deny his accounts of army mutinies following Gen. Nivelle's thwarted offensive.

Criticized for Story About U. S. Critics of Mr. Churchill's rhetoric on the following passage of his description of America's entrance into the war:

"Patriotism, indifference and dissent to war were swept from the path and the French people gathered round their leader, which overpowered in its every discordant yell, the American nation sprang to arms."

He also refutes the usual story that the German crown prince sacrificed the power of the German army at Verdun. He says, on the contrary, that the French lost two men to the German one. The French are not pleased also over his biting picture of "Papa" Joffre, who is described as using heavy meals, slumbering peacefully, and answering private letters of praise while the French army was hammered to pieces before Verdun.

Controversy Looms. Mr. Churchill's figures on the loss of life are likely to raise a controversy. In a detailed statistical examination during the period from 1915 to the end of 1917 he says the French and British lost 4,123,000 men, compared with the German losses of 2,166,000 men.

BLONDE FINDS JUST RIGHT HAT, THEN ROBS STORE

It was a case of key, key, who has the key last night when squads from the Lawndale police station answered an alarm that a blonde, about 20, and a man had held up Mrs. Mary Kostanek in the R & K millinery store at 3508 West Twenty-sixth street.

The blonde and her companion purchased a green silk and straw hat, offering first a $10 bill, then the muzzle of a revolver in payment.

The blonde then emptied the cash drawer, getting a refund of her $10 bill, $15, and the keys to the front and rear doors. Then the couple locked both doors from the outside.

When the police arrived Mrs. Kostanek was a prisoner, trying to tell her story through a locked door which she would not let the police smash. Her sister was found and she had a duplicate front door key.

HOW DOWNSTATE EXCUSES FIGHT UPON REMAPPING

Variety of Reasons for Opposition Advanced.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Springfield, Ill., March 3.—[Special.]—It will be sixty days tomorrow since the present legislature convened, and it has worked only eleven days to date. Three of the eleven days have been devoted by the senate to a proposed redistricting of the state into senatorial districts, as commanded by the state constitution.

The Supreme court has said that this legislative duty is mandatory. Therefore, the reasons advanced by downstate senators for opposing performance of their constitutional duty are of widespread interest.

How They Explain Stand.

The twelve principal reasons put forth follow:

1. To reapportion upon the basis of population, as the constitution directs, will eliminate five senators and fifteen representatives downstate and give them to Cook county, and downstate will not stand for decapitating twenty of its legislators.
2. Where the constitution says that the legislature "shall reapportion the state every ten years," the word "shall" means "may."
3. A vote against the pending Dailey plan is a vote against a resolution to select a committee to prepare a redistricting bill and not a vote against reapportionment, and consequently note a vote by a senator against his oath of office.

Blame Chicago Milk Ordinance.

4. Downstate senators will not tolerate the arrogance of Chicago as exhibited by the passage of ordinance barring out all milk except from tuberculin tested cows, thereby injuring dairy farmers.

5. The Illinois river has been polluted by the sewage of Chicago until it gives forth an offensive stench.

6. The constitutional requirement that districts must be based upon population is wrong. The basis should be the number of citizens, and the constitution must be amended to so provide before reapportionment will be made.

7. Estimated 484,040 aliens in Chicago are not entitled to representation in the general assembly.

8. Cook county has 75 per cent of all the illiterates of Illinois.

9. Sundry elections in Chicago have been crooked in spots, gunmen and thugs have dominated polling places, ballot boxes have been stolen, and other ballot boxes have been stuffed with fraudulent votes.

Take Blame at Tribune.

10. The Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Daily News have lost political influence in Chicago.

11. The crime rate in Chicago is objectionably high, especially homicides and murders.

12. Tax dodging is prevalent in Chicago, and much more wealth escapes taxation there than down state, the state tax commission and Cook county board of review permitting tax evasions.

Perhaps other reasons will be devised during the week-end recess and sprung upon the senate when it reconvenes next Tuesday; but that appears improbable. Late speakers against reapportionment have repeated the reasons and excuses of early talkers, one of whom was Senator William S. Jewell of Lewiston, chairman of the senate executive committee. He is reported to have been the selection of Gov. Small, so his logic has an unusual appeal to certain senators.

SMOKE INHALATION PROVES FATAL.

Richard Hess, 50 years old, died at the Keyston hospital yesterday of a lung infection due to inhaling smoke during a fire at his home, 4629 Armitage avenue, Monday morning. Hess was partly overcome by smoke.

COMMONS BACKS THREAT TO SNAP TIE WITH RUSSIA

Sir Austen Tells of Slams at Britain.

LONDON, March 3.—[U.N.]—Rupture of relations between Great Britain and the Russian soviet, if such action is considered necessary by the British government, was approved today in the house of commons.

By a vote of 271 to 144 the house expressed confidence in the government's Russian policy, which favors a break unless present attempts at conciliation are successful. A short time before the vote Foreign Secretary Chamberlain had made it plain that severance of relations is inevitable unless activities in Russia, complained of in Great Britain's recent protest to Moscow, are brought to an end.

Lloyd George Fights in Vain.

Attempts by former Premier Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald to censor the government met crushing defeat. The importance of trade between the two countries was cited by Lloyd George in vain. He also said that the United States would gain an advantage if the break came, first because Great Britain had fought the bolsheviks; second because United States famine relief work in Russia had created a friendly feeling there and finally because American banks grant credits to Russia while British banks refuse them.

"Because of its possible repercussion and a consequent breach in European peace we have shown forbearance under continued provocation," Sir Austen Chamberlain said. "This provocation has been such as we have never endured from any other nation. The British government, after its warning conveyed in the recent note to Moscow will look at future acts to see whether or not forbearance is vain and if it is impossible to continue relations."

Says Soviets Aim at U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] LONDON, March 3.—Moscow is preparing its agents abroad for a propaganda campaign against America, according to a cable from the London Daily News' Shanghai correspondent. He says new orders are being sent to the soviet consuls and agents in China from Moscow. The correspondent cites an intercepted message instructing all Russian officials, after receipt of a code message which may be expected in a few days, "to add America after Great Britain in all anti-foreign propaganda in China."

Dispatches from Moscow tonight quote Commissar Stalin, the Russian dictator, as saying:

"There will be no war this year, and a breach of diplomatic relations with the English is not likely. The war danger exists, but we shall not have war because our enemies are not prepared and they fear the consequences more than we because the workers of western Europe will not fight the soviet. War is impossible without the working classes. Finally, our policy is strictly peaceful and it is difficult to pick a quarrel with us."

Old Folks Need
a Mild Laxative
—Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never grips, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is also lately harmless and pleasant to take. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

If you have a Tribune policy get one for yourself and every member of your family. Use coupon on page 3.

The broad protection offered by the Tribune-Federal Travel Accident Policy cannot be obtained in any other policy issued by any other newspaper in America. It is a tremendous protection at an insignificant cost, and too valuable to disregard. The enormous sum of money paid to policy holders or their beneficiaries is an unquestionable proof of its value. In many instances large amounts of money have been paid for accidents not covered at all by the provisions of policies issued through other newspapers.

10% Added Protection on Renewal

As stated in the policy the value of all specific indemnities increases 10% EACH YEAR your policy is renewed. Such increases continue until the high value of your policy reaches $11,250.00. Your $1.00 covers the entire cost of a year's renewal—no extra charge for the increased value.

Mail the coupon on page 3 with your renewal fee of $1.00 to "Tribune Insurance Dept., Federal Life Insurance Company, 168 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago. You need not send in your policy. A receipt will be mailed to you.

DAUGHERTY JURY DISAGREES ON 1, AGREES ON OTHER

Locked Up for Night, with
No. 9 Holding Out.

New York, March 3.—[Special.]—After having been out 53 hours and 15 minutes, the jury in the second conspiracy trial of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and former Vice President Charles F. Brady, after reaching an agreement with respect to one defendant and stood over to one with respect to the other.

The jury did not report whether the agreement was for conviction or acquittal, nor did they say which defendant they had agreed upon, but the report was that the deadlock concerning Daugherty was broken.

For the third night and instructed to resume their deliberations tomorrow morning.

Daugherty and Brady were charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of its revenue.

THIS BIGAMIST CAN MUSTER WOMAN NINE IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

San Francisco, Cal., March 3.—(AP)—John W. Kearney, held in jail here on a burglary charge, today confessed that he had married and deserted nine women, all without the formality of a divorce.

A tenth woman trapped Kearney more effectively than his "wives" when she caught him as a burglar in her house and locked him in a closet.

The women named by Kearney as those who became his wives were: Minnie Boehm, 22, Elgin, Ill., 1911; Julia Osborne, 16, St. Paul, Minn., 1913; Maria Leahy, 26, Chicago, 1914; Kitty McManus, San Francisco, 1917; Lillian Taylor, 26, Reno, Nev., 1918; Barbara Pielego, Los Angeles, 1921; Jacqueline Morgan, 19, Eureka, Utah, 1924; Rose Lee, 44, Vancouver, Wash., 1925; Florence Torgerson, 26, Woodland, Wash., Jan. 1, 1927.

Kearney said he was unable to agree with the state's attorney on the charges.

The travel vouchers were those issued to Mr. Daugherty and Jess W. Smith, now dead, on April 19, 1921.

Judge Knox, at the jury's request, read some of the testimony of Richard Merton, German banker, who said he paid John T. King, now dead, $441,000 in cash and Liberty bonds as a "fee" for putting through the $7,000,000 claim of the Société Suisse pour Valeurs des Métaux against the alien property custodian.

300 H. S. PUPILS
FORGIVEN FOR DAY'S TRUANCY

With a hilarious but orderly celebration last night the truancy of 300 Roosevelt High school students following an eventful basketball victory over Tilden Technical High school on Tuesday night became a closed incident.

When the 300 students appeared in the assembly hall of the school yesterday morning after having "ditched" school the day before to attend a movie and demonstrate that athletic supremacy outweighs academic routine, they faced a reckoning with Principal James T. Gaffney.

"It has been decided," announced Mr. Gaffney, "that those who were not at school yesterday must bring excuses from parents before they can return to classes."

After the noon hour most of the truants had obtained the necessary notes. Last night the students had a snake dance and bonfire on the grounds of the Roosevelt High school.

POLITICAL CAMPS FIX UP THUNDER FOR CITY BATTLE

Literary Experts Hunting
Slogan for Dever.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

All was quiet along the Potomac yesterday in Chicago's mayoralty campaign. The opposing Dever and Thompson camps were active in preparing for the big platform push that starts a week hence, and the leaders were too engrossed in the routine grind of tuning the machines up, to turn loose any burning thoughts for consumption.

At Dever headquarters the sloganers were busy, but as yet an official slogan has not been picked. Some of the word experts submitted a bunch of catchphrases, but the judges withheld judgment.

Some Slogan Offerings.

Among the suggestions were: "Chicago says, 'I Will'; Dever says, 'I Do'." "Deeds, not Promises! Re-elect Dever." "Don't Swap Horses in the Middle of the Stream." "For Chicago's Sake, Re-elect Dever." "For the Honor of Chicago, Re-elect Dever." "Dever, Keep a Good Man In." "Dever Gets Things Done." "Keep Chicago Growing—Re-elect Dever." and "Tried and True—Dever."

Some of the judges thought the most striking line for the billboards would be to put up the mayor's picture, with only one word, "Dever," in huge letters. The literary committee will wrestle with the language again today.

Deneen Conference Delayed.

At Thompson headquarters the day's work was purely political routine. Big Bill is in Georgia hunting possum and the king of England was still in Buckingham palace. Homer Galpin, chairman, called up Roy O. West's office to invite him over for a chin-chin, but learned that Mr. West is in Florida. So the conference with the Deneen group will wait until Senator Deneen returns from Washington in a few days.

F. H. Moynihan of South Chicago, member of the state commerce commission, who told Fred Lundin and Dr. John Dill Robertson to leap off the breakwater and supported E. R. Litsinger in the primaries, was reported to have come out for Thompson.

The Thompson platform campaign, it was announced, is to start Friday noon, March 11, with a meeting in a downtown theater under the auspices of the Wage Earners' league.

The Dever leaders after a checkup yesterday said the petitions for a referendum on taking Chicago under the state utilities act and restoring home rule on utilities are rolling up signatures at an amazing rate. By filing time Saturday they expect to have more than 250,000 names. The work was aided last night by the presentation of a film on home rule at many moving picture theaters.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, independent candidate for mayor under the auspices of Fred Lundin, spoke at his nightly quartet of meetings last night.

"As a candidate," he said, "I have pledged myself to protect the people and to turn over to them the right to control their transportation system in whatever way they choose."

GULF WATERWAY URGED TO BUILD MIDWEST TRADE

Macley Tells of Freight Rate Discrimination.

Establishment of a nine foot channel from the great lakes to the gulf will restore a natural increase in trade and production to the middle west, handicapped since the construction of the Panama canal by the high rail rates for Chicago and the low water rates for the east and the Pacific coast.

This was the statement yesterday of Lacy Macley, secretary of the Mississippi Valley association, who cited figures showing the discriminatory freight rates resulting from the landlocked position of the middle west in a speech before the Hammond, Ind., chamber of commerce.

"We are under heavy handicap in going after South American business. We are shut out of the great southwest, which is now the fastest growing section of the United States, and we are barred from trade with the Pacific coast," Mr. Macley declared.

Shows Discrimination in Iron. For transportation of iron and steel products from Chicago to the Pacific coast is $1 as compared with 65 cents from Pittsburgh to the Pacific coast via Baltimore by water. Similar rates prejudicial to Chicago's shipping interests prevail in the case of all other commodities, Mr. Macley pointed out.

"Our only chance for relief," Mr. Macley explained, "is the improvement and widening of the lake to gulf waterway, a nine foot channel from Lake Michigan to the Gulf of Mexico, used by modern barges in tons carrying from 10,000 tons upward to 20,000 tons."

Proof that the waterway development will give Chicago an even break with the east, Mr. Macley declared exists in the success of the New Orleans to St. Louis barge line.

Cities Growing River Traffic.

"The barge line between New Orleans and St. Louis last year carried 1,145,018 tons and saved the shippers an average of $1.35 per ton in freight rate costs, or $1,545,774," he said. "This line paid all its operating costs, set aside a substantial depreciation fund and in addition paid a net profit to the government on its operations of $267,000."

Mr. Macley expressed appreciation for the action of the Indiana legislature in withdrawing from the case now pending before the Supreme court to halt Chicago's diversion of water.

He said that Chicago should establish its right to divert the lake's flow at the present rate even though the lake levels are rising. In a few years, he said, the lakes may start another downward movement and Chicago will again be blamed.

CAPTURE COUPLE IN FLAT CALLED DOPE EXCHANGE

Paul Battler, 42, and his wife, Lena, 50, were arrested last night in their apartment, U. S. anti-narcotic agents and city police who said the couple were "decking" out drugs for sale to addicts.

Battler and his wife, according to the agents, are the members of an international dope syndicate. Morphine valued at $750 was seized.

Clarence Kadlin, 34, confessed burglar of several Hyde Park homes whose foot prints and $500 is said to have told the police that he was purchasing drugs at the Battler apartment.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchoids and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

To Have Nice White Hands in Winter

Many women have recently learned how to have soft, pretty, white hands in winter, regardless of the kind of work they have to do. Many of our shop girls have beautiful, soft, pretty, white hands because they use the cream. The secret lies in the fact that the cream keeps the hands constantly protected from the cold and dry weather. In the morning you will be greatly surprised to find that your hands are so soft and white. This cream has been brought by even a medical profession. It is made from a Japanese product that is gentle and does not irritate the skin. It is perfect for the hands of women who do the most hard work. It is perfect for the hands of women who are really the true mark of refinement. It is perfect for the hands of women who are really the true mark of refinement. ## WELL LIGHTED STREETS ON LIST OF DEVER DEEDS

Big Area Illuminated to Make City Safer.

Installation of thousands of new street lights, "making Chicago's streets safe for women and children," was cited by Mayor Dever yesterday as one of the achievements of his administration.

No large city in America has kept pace with Chicago in the last three years in improving its municipal lighting system, according to a report made to the mayor by John T. Miller, commissioner of gas and electricity.

$5,001,000 For New Lights. Since July 1, 1923, the report stated, the city has spent $5,001,000 for street lamps, installing more than 25,000 new units, covering 35 square miles of territory and 800 linear miles of streets. The new lamps would illuminate an entire city the size of Milwaukee, Mr. Miller said.

"The need for better lighting has been one of Chicago's most acute problems," the mayor commented, "but we have it practically solved."

"There is nothing a holdup man or a sex criminal hates more than light. We have found from police reports that night crimes are always more numerous in the unlighted district. We have eliminated most of these now."

Outer Areas Illuminated. The largest part of the street lighting bond issue money has been spent, according to Mr. Miller, in Wards 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, and 22. Most of these wards are the outlying districts of the city.

High intensity lamps have been placed along Western avenue from Dever avenue to the north city limits and from 55th to 79th streets; Wabash avenue from 13th to 22d streets; Broadway from Montrose to Devon avenues; Devon avenue from Western to Broadway; and on parts of Ashland, Ewing, Indianapolis, Ogden and other avenues. A little more than $600,000 has been spent in the last two years for traffic control lights, the report said, giving Chicago the most modern traffic lights in the world. Lights have been installed at 33 loop intersections and at 178 outlying intersections.

To Neglect a "Social" Disease

The man who neglects a "Social" Disease, or who attempts to treat and cure it himself, is virtually committing slow suicide.

For these insidious diseases, when left uncured, impair their victims in body and mind and often lead to an early grave. Statistics prove that "Social" Diseases kill 300,000 men and women in this country every year.

Health Commissioner Bundesen says: "We dread tuberculosis, heart disease and pneumonia. Yet one form of "Social" Disease, directly or indirectly, destroys more human lives each year than any of these."

"Social" Diseases are perhaps the greatest cause of misery and suffering in the world. Unless promptly and properly treated, they lead to insanity, paralysis, heart disease, locomotor ataxia, pelvic disorders in women, and childless, unhappy marriages. Countless cases of apoplexy, epilepsy, Bright's disease, rheumatism and other serious afflictions may also be traced to "Social" Diseases. Nearly all cases of blindness in infants are caused by one form of "Social" Disease.

Why is it, then, that in Chicago alone thousands of men and women who know themselves to have "Social" Diseases are doing nothing to stop the ruinous course of these infections—or are attempting ineffectually to treat and cure themselves?

Some of them hesitate to consult a physician through false modesty; some because they have the mistaken idea that "Social" Diseases are incurable; others because they have been made to believe that the form they have is no more serious than a severe cold.

Sooner or later, of course, they all will be forced to take treatment. Their condition will eventually come to a point where they can no longer conceal it. Then they will realize how much better it would have been to have consulted a physician immediately.

The many pathetic cases of "Social" Diseases to be seen in hospitals everywhere, the records of insane asylums and the experiences of physicians all bear witness to the folly of not obtaining reliable medical treatment at once and continuing it until cured.

If you know or suspect yourself to have a "Social" Disease, a visit to your physician or the Public Health Institute may save you years of suffering, broken health or permanent disability. It will also give you years of life that will be denied you if you continue to neglect your infection.

The Public Health Institute is a modernly-equipped clinic founded by public spirited citizens "not for profit." Its trained physicians will treat you privately and conveniently, at fees you can easily afford. Bearing in mind that a "Social" Disease may be inherited or otherwise innocently acquired, it is extremely advisable to be examined even though you have no cause to suspect infection. The cost in time and money is small.

HOUSE READY TO TRY DEARTH IN INDIANA SENATE

Charges Muncie Judge with Muzzling Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—[Special.]—Articles of impeachment against Judge Clarence Dearth of Delaware county circuit court, as voted by the Indiana house yesterday, have been completed and will be filed with the senate at once.

The articles were prepared by the six members of the board of managers elected by the house to prosecute the case.

As soon as the articles are presented to the senate, Judge Dearth is automatically suspended from the bench and will remain in suspension unless reinstated by the senate hearing. Meantime a temporary successor must be named by the governor, subject to senate approval.

List of Charges.

The articles of impeachment charge Dearth with having violated the constitutional guaranty of freedom of the press when he prevented distribution of the Muncie Weekly newspaper of George R. Dale, anti-klan editor, who had criticized him. The articles further charge that Dearth violated the constitutional guaranty protecting private property in having confiscated copies of the papers belonging to Muncie newboys. The articles also charge him with malfeasance in office in having appointed an unqualified jury commissioner, and with negligence in having permitted such commissioner to serve and for tolerating alleged corrupt jury conditions in his court.

Dearth Retains Three Lawyers.

Judge Dearth was in conference here today with Frederick Van Nys, former United States district attorney, who has been engaged to represent the judge in the trial. Accompanying Dearth were his two Muncie attorneys, Van Ogle, former prosecuting attorney of Delaware county, and Wilbur Ryman.

When asked whether he would go into the Supreme court with a petition for a writ of prohibition to enjoin the senate from hearing the case, Mr. Van Nys admitted that such a step was possible. Dearth refused to talk with reporters. Five minutes after the conference Dearth, Ryman, and Ogle left for Muncie.

Just what action the state senate may take in regard to the impeachment proceedings was the basis of speculation in legislative circles tonight. Under the statutes, the senate would act as the trial court, would hear the evidence, and vote impeachment or acquittal. The law also specifies that the senate must fix the date of the impeachment hearing, but does not specify how soon after impeachment has been voted by the house that a hearing must be held. Some senators take the stand that the case could go over until the next regular session of the legislature, which would be in 1928. Dearth's term of office expires in 1928.

WHEAT AND CORN DRIFT LOWER ON LIBERAL SELLING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.
Wheat values held within a range of 1/8 to 1/4, with good support appearing around $1.40 for May white on the bulge there was rather firm selling. The finish was at 10c loss of 1/8 to 1/4 with May 1.40 1/4, July 1.33 1/4 and September 1.31 1/4. Corn lost 1/8 to 1/4 with May 77 1/4, July 74 1/4 and September 73 1/4. Oats were off 1/8 to 1/4 with May 45 1/4, July 47 1/4 and September 46 1/4. Rye declined 1/8 to 1/4 with May 1.06 1/4, July 1.04 1/4 and September 99 1/4.
There was some buying of wheat futures early credited to foreign demand while on the dips commission houses appeared to have resting orders to buy with those with eastern connections leading. Outside trade took a while to get going, but the market fluctuated rather rapidly at times on relatively small orders.
Wheat failed to reflect fully the pronounced weakness which prevailed in Liverpool. The latter closed 1/4 lower on the estimated exports of 5,920,000 bu. compared with 6,352,000 bu. the previous week, and 8,034,000 bu. last year, the showing being regarded as very good. Outside trade took a while to get going, but the market fluctuated rather rapidly at times on relatively small orders.
Buenos Aires closed 1/8 lower with March, 1.25, and May, 1.23 1/4.
More Pressure on Corn.
Commission houses were persistent sellers of corn futures and with hedging pressure from cash interests prices averaged lower with the finish within a fraction of the bottom. Local bulls were the best buyers on the decline. Holders of bids were also buyers. Country offerings to arrive were larger, but generally held above buyers' view, and purchases of only 25,000 bu. were reported. Eastern demand was better with shipping sales of 117,000 bu. Argentine exportable surplus is estimated by Broomhall at 255,000,000 bu. against 232,000,000 bu. last season. Buenos Aires closed 1/8 lower with March 63c, and May, 61 1/2c.
Houses with eastern connections bought out early, but later there was selling by long and local on the weakness in corn, and a good reaction followed. An increase in spring grain acreage is indicated in Texas.
Trade in rye was not large, and the market influenced largely by the action of wheat. The seaboard reported 75,000 bu. sold for export and it was said there were numerous bids in the market some what under a working level.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of 400,000 bu. wheat and 100,000 bu. rye were reported at the seaboard, with 600,000 to 700,000 bu. No. 3 Manitoba said to have been sold on direct cables from Winnipeg. The latter grain was reported to have been sold at $1.33 1/4, c. b. Fort William, or about 18c under Winnipeg May. Philadelphia reported that the No. 3 grade had averaged to ship 1,000,000 bu. all rail from Fort William to the former seaboard. Chicago handlers sold 3,000 bu. wheat; 117,000 bu. corn; 41,000 bu. oats, and 6,000 bu. barley to the domestic trade.
Milling demand for cash wheat here was rather slow with the spot basis unchanged at 56 1/2c under May for No. 3 red, and 16 1/2c under for No. 3 hard, while No. 3 grades were 66 1/2c under. Red winter at St. Louis was 1/8 higher as compared with May and hard winter at Omaha gained 1c on the future, while at Kansas City the basis was unchanged.
Elevator interests were buyers of good corn in the local sample market, but the grain showing heavy damage and slowly. Prices were unchanged to 1c lower as compared with May for No. 3 grades 76 1/2c under No. 4 grades, 13 1/2c under No. 5 grades, 10 1/2c under, and No. 6 grades, 20 1/2c under. Outside markets were 1/8 higher to 1/4 lower.
Offerings of cash oats were small, but the grain showing heavy damage and slowly. Prices were unchanged to 1c lower, No. 3 white brought 1 1/2c over, and No. 3 white 1 1/4c under.
Official receipts of grain at Chicago Thursday: Wheat, 15 cars; corn, 280 cars; oats, 40 cars; 1 car barley, 0 cars.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.
Short-hand Manual.

"I have a 'Van Sant Short-hand Manual' to give to any one needing it."
If you'd like to delve into the mysteries of shorthand, this book would help you immensely.

A Case of Desperate Need.
"I wish to call your attention to a case of desperate need which has come to my notice. The family consists of the mother and her three daughters, 9, 7, and 5, who have been deserted by the father. Although she is not well, the mother is working for a small wage to support her children and they are often without enough to eat. If your readers could give them the clothing they discard, it would help some."
—V. S.

It's a burden almost too heavy to carry which this mother has had thrust upon her. Will you try to relieve it a trifle by giving her the clothing your children have outgrown?

HAROLD TEEN—ALL IS HOTSY TOTSY AGAIN

Mothers!

There is a wonderful new mealtime drink for your children—a hot, nourishing, delicious drink that you make in a jiffy! Instant Postum made with milk. Just put a teaspoonful of Instant Postum in a cup, fill with hot (not boiled) milk, stir a moment, sugar to taste, and it's ready. All the nourishment of milk, plus wholesome elements of wheat and bran. Order from your grocer!

Mrs. L. Thompson and Daughter Start Soon on European Ramble

BY NANCY R.

I suppose few of our at-homeers are as frequently and persistently asked questions as to "whether" and "when" as Mrs. Leverett Thompson and her daughter, Laura. With good reason, too, for usually they are among the first to desert Chicago for the winter. Mrs. Thompson, who has been in Chicago in several years, and her daughter, Laura, are now on their way to Europe. They are going to Germany, I believe, and after a visit there will spend a fortnight or so in Constantinople.

Mrs. Thompson took an apartment at the Ambassador at the beginning of the winter, but both she and her daughter have skipped off almost every week-end to their lake house, where they've had many parties. They hope to return to this part of the world late in May. Laura is finding these last few weeks in Chicago a most interesting time to do, for she's taking part in the most recent North Shore Theater production, "Ariadne," which means that rehearsals and packing and last minute parties must all be crowded into her already busy days. The first performance of "Ariadne" will be given in Lake Forest on March 4. The cast includes Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Richard Bentley (Phoebe Norcross), Rosemary Coffin, Lawrence Brown, George Bartlett, and Abram Mendelsohn.

Day's News in Society

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers were among the Chicago guests at the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury last Saturday afternoon at El Mirasol in Palm Beach on the occasion of Mr. Stotesbury's birthday. A poem written by Alexander H. Revell was read, as well as several other verses and songs dedicated to the Stotesburys. Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinnock, Miss Muriel McKinnock, Mr. and Mrs. William Waller Jr., the Rev. Mr. Richardson Revell, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour were also present.

An engagement of interest is that of Miss Marian Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brown of Hinsdale and 201 East Delaware place, to Mr. James F. Porter of Hubbard Woods. Miss Brown is now at Bryn Mawr college and Mr. Porter is doing scientific work at Harvard, where he was graduated two years ago. No wedding date has been set.

The Victor Ellings of Winnetka, who are sojourning in Bermuda, were hosts to a dinner party recently at the Princeton hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ogden Coleman and their children of Indian Hill are to depart today for California, where they have taken a house at Coronado Beach for several months. When they return they plan to begin building their new residence near the Sun Hill Golf club.

Mr. Harry A. Parkin of Highland Park and his daughter, Miss Margaret Parkin, are spending a few weeks in Bermuda.

Mrs. Jackson K. Dering Jr. of the Ambassador hotel has departed by train for New York City, where she has taken an apartment for the spring months. She plans to spend part of the summer abroad. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Boehm of Winnetka, have motored to Miami, Fla., and are now in Havana for a brief stay.

The Tip Toppers are to give a dance at the Belmont hotel this evening. Miss Mary Farley is in charge.

Loyal Legion Starts Move for Fallows Monument

The military order of the Loyal Legion, at a dinner last evening at the Union League club, appointed a committee to raise subscriptions for the erection of a monument in Forest Park in the memory of the late Bishop Samuel Fallows and place a memorial tablet in the St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, of which Bishop Fallows was pastor for forty-six years. The church is now called the Bishop Fallows memorial. Bishop Fallows was a chaplain and breveted brigadier general in the civil war.

Juries Favor Women on Juries, Judge Cliffe Says

Most judges favor women on juries because of their earnestness and keen intuition of right and wrong, Judge Adam C. Cliffe of the United States District court said last night before members of the Women's Bar Association of Illinois at the Morrison hotel. The failure to enforce the laws is due to poor juries, Judge Cliffe said, emphasizing the fact that women are needed in the jury box of Illinois. The Women's Bar association is sponsoring the bill for women on juries which comes up for hearing before the judiciary committee at Springfield next Tuesday.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Charles Carter and Mrs. Henry Carter have returned from Paris and where they will visit Mrs. Carter's sister, Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones, for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Emery have returned from Paris and are at the Ritz-Carlton.

Mrs. Robert Ogden Bacon returned from Palm Beach today and joined Mr. and Mrs. Emery.

Mr. and Mrs. Poulton Elgerton are the guests of Miss Grace Elgerton at 11 Gramercy Park for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, who are at Palm Beach, will return to 1015 Park avenue on March 10.

Blue Laws Hamper Sunday Recreation of Chicagoans at Aiken

Chicagoans in the winter colony at Aiken, S. C., are interested in the outcome of a controversy being waged there over the reviving of some ancient statutes enforcing Sunday blue laws prohibiting the playing of golf, polo, and tennis. The cottagers indulged in the forbidden pastimes on Sunday last, the first day designated for the enforcement. A quartet of professional golfers were arrested, and the result of their jury trial will determine whether the vacationers are to be deprived of their Sunday diversions. Benjamin Leslie Behr has stabled at Aiken Burroughs, twice winner of the Meadowbrook hunt cup; Myndon Mount, who won at the last meeting of the United Hunt at Belmont, and Tapper, a promising young horse. These horses are to be entered in the Aiken annual show on March 26. Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Carry of 189 Lake Shore Drive have arrived and are to remain during the March sport events.

Miss Marion Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson of Chicago, is the guest of Miss Rita Dolan at Calico cottage. Mrs. Joseph Leiter of Washington, D. C., and Chicago has reserved a suite at one of the hotels for the horse show.

Mrs. R. R. McCormick had Mr. and Mrs. Austin H. Niblack, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Brown, and Mrs. Robert K. Caldwell at one of the many pre-Lenten dinners given last week.

Closed Car and the Closed Mind Menace Youth, Says Pastor

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Those broad minded folk who see in the frankness of youth the salvation of the much criticized generation will be pleased, no doubt, to read the report on a recent questionnaire on morals sent 300 students of denominational colleges by Dr. John B. Magee, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church of Kansas City.

The majority of the young folk addressed not only go in for petting, but are willing to sign their names to the declaration that petting is the order of the day. Dr. Magee, however, is not to be listed apparently among those who believe frankness the panacea for the ailments of youth. He heartily deprecates the prevalence of petting to which the student body testified. And, being a pastor, he is in a position to determine the consequences of the easy freedom of the sexes rather better, one judges, than the students themselves.

The two greatest menaces to modern youth Dr. Magee cites as the closed motor car and the closed mind. The closed mind, we interpret, as youth's refusal to accept the advice and experience of older heads.

The question of whether students want dancing in the church was on the list submitted by Dr. Magee, and virtually all the students replied in the affirmative, indicating, in spite of their taste for petting, that young people would have their recreation conducted under the proper patronage were it extended them.

"Should girls smoke?" was still another query advanced the study body, and the replies were unanimously against the nicotine habit for women. The objection was not a moral one. It was just the healthy time worn old prejudice of the male against seeing a girl sending up clouds of smoke.

Broken Homes Called Aid to Delinquency

What makes a child delinquent? In her talk yesterday before the weekly forum of the Chicago Woman's Aid in its headquarters in the Kimball building, Miss Jessie Binford, director of the Juvenile Protective association, listed these major causes: Broken homes, truancy from school, bad community conditions, ineffectual handling of delinquency by the police, and child labor.

Truancy, Miss Binford declared, is a danger warning on the path to real delinquency. It is much easier, at that stage, to divert a child into constructive channels than to wait until the child is arrested.

Dr. Harrison Dobbs, director of the Juvenile Detention home, referred to the present inadequate equipment for studying child problems. Chicago, he pointed out, has 650,000 school children and but two behavior clinics: the Institute for Juvenile Research and the child study department of the board of education.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

She's Fickle.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 19. I have been going with a girl who lately told she loved me. I heard she loved another boy. Please advise. RAYVEN."

She's in love with you today, and some one else tomorrow—so don't take her seriously, Rayven.

Unwise to Accept Jewelry.

"Dear Miss Blake: A fellow I like wants to give me a wrist watch. I do not love him. Should I accept it? BLONDE."

It would be better not, as one doesn't accept jewelry from other than a fiancé.

King George Dislikes to See Women Ride Astride

LONDON, March 3.—(AP)—King George dislikes the vogue of women riding astride. Visiting the horse show at Islington yesterday, he saw many women in mannish costume astride of hunters which were being shown in the ring and remarked to his companions: "I don't like to see women ride astride; the side seat is much more graceful."

Keeping a Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

Never touch any but true complexion soap to your face

LAUNDER, wash, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake—take care.

Modern beauty culture calls for soap and water. But that means a TRUE COMPLEXION SOAP. Soaps good for other purposes are often too harsh for the skin.

Thus, largely on expert advice, millions use Palmolive Soap; touch their faces with no other. It is made of cosmetic oils. It is made for one purpose only—to protect and beautify the skin.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm-oil lather into the skin. Rinse with warm water; then with cold. That is all—it's a nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Do that regularly, and particularly before bed. Never let powder, rouge or make-up remain on your skin over night. Note how much better your skin is in even one week.

GET REAL PALMOLIVE

Get Palmolive today. Costs but 10c a cake. Use no other on your face. But be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Crude imitations, represented to be of olive and palm oils, are not the same as Palmolive. Remember that and TAKE CARE. The Palmolive-Pet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Here's a Trick for Taking the Curse from Spectacles

A contribution to the woman who wears glasses is offered by Dorothy Stote, author of "Making the Most of Your Looks" (Brentano's). You might try it, and if you aren't satisfied, as Miss Stote suggests, you can drop the matter. It sounds to me as though it had possibilities for adding depth and color to the eye behind the spectacles.

Kisses behind glasses lose some of their brightness and attraction and the Stote's suggestions are to counteract this defect. A small smudge of makeup, subtly applied, is the trick.

You may reply to this that you certainly have no intention of making yourself conspicuous with made up eyes," says Miss Stote. "But before you condemn me entirely, won't you make a test? After all, it can do no harm to try."

"Buy an eyebrow pencil, which can be had for a very small amount. Then get a little jar of eye shadow paste. It can be had in a number of shades, so you can get the color that will match your makeup for the day. Take a little of the shadow paste and rub it gently over your upper eyelid with your finger tip. Blend it into the lid until there is no harsh line, but merely, as the name implies, a faint shadow. Now take your eyebrow pencil and very carefully put a line under your lower lashes. It must be thin and placed close against the lashes. With the finger tips or a piece of cotton tone this down until it loses all harsh definition. When you are satisfied that neither shadow paste nor the pencil line is obvious, put your glasses on and notice the difference in your eyes. With the glasses to soften the outlines of the makeup, practically all evidences of it disappear. But your eyes have an added depth and color."

If you feel uncomfortable about it, our authority suggests that you do not use the makeup for the daytime. But at least see how you like the effect under electric light. You will undoubtedly find a tremendous improvement after you have learned the art of applying the makeup skillfully, Miss Stote promises.

Spectacles, she thinks, call for plain frocks, verging on the tailored, and no earrings. For evening wear nose glasses go better with the costume.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

G. J. T. IN THE CARE OF PERSpiration, clearness is the most important factor. Not only must the feet be kept clean, but the stockings should be changed every day, and if possible the shoes. It may be accomplished with two pairs of shoes, alternating. Wash the feet every morning and night in lukewarm water and castile soap. Rinse and dry well. Apply this solution freely: Alcohol, one pint; salicylic acid, two drams.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Squeezing Cooked Spinach Dry.

First and last, a considerable number of letters have come to this column complaining of sloppy spinach. Very likely the writers were brought up on dried and finely chopped spinach. It used always to be served so prepared, but it can be beautifully served in the leaf, as it were, and not be sloppy nor anything but a wonderful green. To do this, it must have a hot dip or a few minutes of scalding, a cold dip afterward, and then gentle cooking in the water that clings to it. There is a sort of bloom on some spinach that needs to be scalded off. The cooked spinach is not dainty nor entirely agreeable if it is not. It may be chopped and buttered, but if the water was not cooked out of it too much left on from the cold dip—that should be squeezed out first.

In the most sophisticated of one of the old cook books the first recipe for spinach directs that it be cooked in French fashion. After the spinach has been cooked, in but a few minutes, it is cooled and pressed into balls between the hands, so as to get all the moisture out. It is next chopped, then cooked gently in butter in a bright saucepan for ten minutes, "until it appears dry." With gentle cooking, spinach will not lose its color or change to a brown green, and best near the end.

In giving the common English method, this book directs that the moisture be pressed out of the cooked spinach between two trunks. It is then chopped, finely with butter stirred and mixed with it in a saucepan over the fire, smoothed in a dish, and marked off in squares.

Fooshed eggs served with spinach must be drained or they will make it sloppy. Sometimes a piece of toast or fried bread is put between the egg and the spinach.

Costume Jewelry Sets New Pace of Diversity

Bright Sayings of the Children

Our neighbors have twins, a boy and girl, aged 4, also a boy of 5 years.

When Sonny returned from playing there one day he announced, "I had the bestest time playin' with Tommy, this mornin'!"

"Tommy," I repeated. "Let's see, is he the boy that's just your age?"

"No, daddy," returned Sonny. "Tommy's the one that's got the 'tittle sister to match'."

The woman across the street has purchased a blooded pup, and as he likes to wander away she guards him with care. The other day he got away from her and came out to look for him, Marcella, who was just passing, said to her: "If you're looking for Prince you'll find him in the next block. He's playing with a dog friend of his."

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—The tortoise and the hare, according to the old legend, competed in a race. But in the modern legend of costume jewelry the tortoise serves the hare.

When tortoise shell is stressed, as it is at present, it would ordinarily be used for hair ornaments. But since, nowadays, there is such a dearth of hair to ornament it does the next best thing by decorating the hat. It becomes a hat pin.

Yet tortoise shell has no corner on this enterprise. Never was there greater diversity in costume jewelry. Millinery offers equal opportunity to the talents of pearl, crystal, rhinestone, marquis, ebony, and delicate enamel. Often one sees a smart woman with a complete set in one of these media, consisting of hat ornament, necklace, earrings and bracelet.

And now Cartier offers a new element in the matching fever by designing a boudoir set of ebony and diamonds. For evening wear we find pastel tones predominating in jewelry. Lanvin is particularly stressing two shades, one of them is termed Jaune-Canari and may be either clear or opaque. The other is La Belle Rose. Necklaces in this medium often show long pendants.

La Belle Rose was selected to accompany in necklace and bracelet, bracelets this amusing little dance frock seen at the Junior League ball. This frock is executed in matching rose and white. The scalloped, which offer the only trimming, are embroidered in rhinestone.

After a Paper.

I had been accustomed to buy a paper by my way to work but had forgotten to do so this morning. While sitting in the car I spied a paper under the seat across the aisle. Rising, I stooped to pick it up, when the car gave a sudden jerk. The next instant I found myself hurtling through space and landing softly on the floor, much to the delight of the passengers.

Shooting Out the Landlord.

I was in the kitchen one day when I heard some one stumbling and coughing up the back stairs. I thought it was a beggar and as I was alone in the house I decided I would not go to the door and I slipped into the next room.

He kept rapping so long I finally peeked out and it was the landlord.

I certainly was embarrassed. G. J.
